

Injunction Action Wants Settlement Hoover Pleased Undefended By Made in 1926 in With Welcome Paramount Bus Fuss Case Vacated At Buenos Aires

William R. Garrison, Plaintiff, Testifies That Defendant Corporation Does Not Put in Any Testimony—Negligence Action Brought By Major Hiltbrant.

An action in negligence was taken up for trial in supreme court Thursday afternoon at the conclusion of an injunction brought by William R. Garrison of Palenville against Paramount Bus Corporation. This action which has occupied the time of the courts on several occasions turned out to be an undefended action when Judge Cunningham who appears for the defendant corporation did not put in any testimony. Testimony on the part of Mr. Garrison was taken by Senator Wiswall of the firm of Wiswall, Walton Wood and MacAffer of Albany.

This action brought to restrain the Bus Corporation from operating a bus line over the Tannersville-Saugerties route of Mr. Garrison first made its appearance in court some time ago when a temporary injunction order was secured in special term. The case was put on the calendar of the supreme court for trial and was on the March calendar. Defendant's attorney moved for a judgment on pleadings before Judge Morechauser at special term at Poughkeepsie and the motion was granted. An appeal was taken from the decision of that court and judgment was reversed in the appellate division and the case sent back for trial.

No Appearance on Part of Defendant. For several days Senator Wiswall was in court urging the case for trial and was met with affidavits showing that Judge Cunningham was engaged and various other affidavits. Judge Russell however finally set the case down for trial Thursday and at that time there was no appearance on the part of defendant Paramount Bus Corporation.

Mr. Garrison sworn testified that he has several busses now operating between Tannersville and Saugerties by way of Haines Falls, Palenville and Quarryville. He has a certificate to operate from the Public Service Commission and also has the consent of the towns through which he operates. He maintains a regular schedule and operates on a regular schedule. His investment in the business is over $20,000. Permission to operate dates back some six years.

Injured To Extent of Over $500. Mr. Garrison testified that the bus of the Paramount Bus Corporation was operated from Hunter to Tannersville, Haines Falls, Palenville, Quarryville, Saugerties, Kingston and to New York City, picking up passengers at intervening points, and along his route. A certificate was offered showing that no permission had been granted the bus line to operate by the Public Service Commission or from the towns through which it operated in opposition to Mr. Garrison's line. He testified that through the operation of the line his business had been injured to the extent of over $500.

The Paramount Bus Corporation began operating in the month of July and operated through the summer months but ceased in the fall after Labor Day. Mr. Garrison testified as to the Paramount Bus Corporation bus picking up passengers along his route testified as to the average number and as to the loss of fare to him by such action.

Matter was heard before the court and a jury and findings rendered.

Hiltbrant's Action.

Was taken in the action brought by Oscar Hiltbrant against H. C. Roulsen an action to recover for the collision with the truck of the defendant trucking corporation in front of the Marlborough garage and that his car was badly damaged.

On the stand Major Hiltbrant testified that he, his wife and Captain Olsen had been in Newburgh where there had been an action at the Newburgh armory. He was driving home at a moderate speed and suddenly a truck came up in front of him. It was a Mack truck of defendant which was parked in front of the Marlborough garage and extending out into the road a distance of several feet. There were no lights visible on the truck and it was not until he was about 30 feet away that he saw the dark truck loom up. At that time there was a car approaching from the north and it was impossible to swing to the left of the road and avoid a collision with the truck without striking the approaching car.

The defendant's contention is that the truck was not parked at right angles to the road but that it was backed up to the Marlborough garage discharging a load of wood and that the lights were lighted. They also contend that there were many lights on the front of the garage and also the street lights were lighted and the truck which was parked for discharge of cargo could be plainly seen. Plaintiff testified that shortly after the accident one of the men on the truck turned the lights on. He

And That Mother of Mrs. Fuss He Substituted as Guardian and Action For Annulment of the Marriage Continued.

An order to show cause why an order of settlement and discontinuance made by Judge Hasbrouck on September 7, 1926 in an action for annulment of the marriage of Emma Roehl Fuss against Peter Fuss should not be vacated, was argued this morning before Judge Russell in Supreme court. Judge Russell announced that he would study the affidavits filed and give his decision later today.

The order to show cause came up as a result of the pleading of the order of settlement and discontinuance, signed by Judge Hasbrouck in special term in 1926, as a defense in the present action for annulment of the marriage which was being tried before Judge Russell at this term of court.

Emma Roehl Fuss, an infant by guardian, seeks in the present action to have her marriage to Peter Fuss of this city annulled on the grounds that she was a minor at the time of the marriage and that her parent did not consent to the marriage.

Plaintiff put in considerable testimony showing that she was a minor at the time of the marriage. The testimony was partially taken behind closed doors. Then the defendant in defense pled the former order of discontinuance as a defense and Chris J. Flanagan attorney for plaintiff asked that the former order be vacated and asked that Mrs. Roehl be appointed guardian instead of Mrs. L. Paradies, sister of the plaintiff who was guardian in the prior action which was discontinued. The order was returnable today.

Mrs. Paradies Brought Action. Affidavits were filed showing that a prior action for annulment had been brought by Mrs. Paradies as guardian of Emma Roehl Fuss against Fuss. Following the serving of papers in that action Fuss fled asking large damages, said to be $20,000 for alienation of his wife's affections. The affidavit filed on the part of plaintiff alleges that after the suit for alienation of affections was brought by Fuss against Paradies and his wife an agreement was entered into whereby both actions were discontinued. It is alleged that the annulment action was discontinued at the time the action for alienation of affections was discontinued by the guardian of the minor and her husband. It is alleged that the interests of the guardian, Mrs. Paradies, were adverse to the interests of the plaintiff, Mrs. Fuss, in that a settlement was arrived at in both cases without the infant benefiting.

The order of discontinuance was signed at special term by Judge Hasbrouck. Now it is the desire of the plaintiff to have this order vacated and her mother substituted as guardian and the action for annulment of the marriage continued.

The defendant contends that the interests of the plaintiff infant were protected and that at the time of the discontinuance there was an understanding that she was to return to Fuss and reside with him.

Judge Russell is asked to decide whether the discontinuance of the two actions were given one in consideration of the settlement of the other to the prejudice and without the consent of the plaintiff infant.

Chris J. Flanagan appears for Mrs. Fuss and A. J. Cook for defendant Fuss.

Navigation on River Slowing

Steamboat Lines Cease for Season on Upper Hudson River, but Navigation Between Kingston and New York Continues—Tows Still Operating.

Navigation of the river steamers on the upper Hudson river was brought to a close today when the steamer Jacob H. Tremper of the Central Hudson Line made its last trip of the season between Albany and Newburgh. The steamer came down the river today and will be laid up at Newburgh for the winter. Navigation between Kingston and New York will be continued all winter, if possible, by the Central Hudson Line boats.

With the steamer Tremper making its last trip today all steamboat service on the upper Hudson river, with the exception of towing, was brought to a close. The Catskill Evening Line and the Saugerties & New York Line have ceased running for the season. Towing on the Hudson river will likely be continued until halted by ice conditions. testified that Capt. Olsen paced off the distance which the truck extended out into the roadway and found it to be fifteen feet. Cross examined Mr. Hiltbrant stated that he had not heard anyone state that they should get a doctor or that he had been drinking. He heard no such conversation and after ascertaining the number of the truck he proceeded down with his car. Brininger & Elsworth appear for the plaintiff and Vernon Kelder for Judge Cunningham's office and Amos Van Eiten appear for the defendant company.

Argentine Government Continues To Surround Party With Every Precaution For Their Safety—Hoover Issues Brief Statement of Appreciation.

Buenos Aires, Dec. 14 (AP).—Herbert Hoover was highly pleased today over the hearty welcome given him by the people of Buenos Aires, the first capital that he has visited on the eastern coast of South America. His trip down the slopes of the Andes and across the rich and fertile Pampas gave him a feeling of exaltation at the accomplishments of the people of Argentina.

The Argentine government, anxious that no untoward incident mar Mr. Hoover's visit, continued today to surround him and his party with every precaution for their safety. Secret Service men guarded every avenue of approach. Their vigilance was due to possibilities indicated before his arrival by several arrests and seizure of bombs, arms and railway maps. Troops and other guards lined all routes over which Mr. Hoover traveled.

Mr. Hoover and members of his party seemed inclined to doubt that there had been any plot against him. The enthusiastic welcome given the President-elect seemed to indicate there was no anti-American feeling on the part of the people. This enthusiasm prompted Mr. Hoover to issue a brief statement of appreciation saying:

Expresses Appreciation. "I could imagine no more wonderful introduction into Argentina than through the Andes. One is plunged at once into a realization of its greatness, its splendid development and its magnificent resources. As a student of human advancement, I have a feeling of exaltation at the accomplishment of the people of Argentina to which I have been witness. I am deeply grateful for the genuine spirit of kindness and welcome extended me by President Irigoyen and evidenced by the many thousands of people along the way here."

The enthusiasm of the greeting given Mr. Hoover disrupted an elaborate reception that had been planned and prevented a parade from the station to the United States embassy. A red plush carpet had been laid at the railroad station and Mr. Hoover and members of his party walked on it as they left their special train. The first person to shake hands with the President-elect was President Irigoyen, who rarely appears at public functions. Thousands were gathered around, cheering and shouting "Viva Hoover." For a time cavalry men were able to hold the crowd in check.

When Mr. Hoover and President Irigoyen left the carpeted station platform, however, police lines gave way and the crowds surged about them. They crowded and pushed and the Argentine President and his guest had a hard time gaining the automobile which took them to the United States embassy. The cavalry escort and the procession were left to follow as they might.

Seaman Knew of Chattel Mortgage

On Ice Cream Parlor He Purchased for His Daughter Jury Finds and Reports in Favor of Henry Erichsen.

Whether or not John R. Seaman of Highland knew of the existence of a chattel mortgage on an ice cream parlor he purchased for his daughter was the question submitted to the jury Thursday noon in the action brought by Henry Erichsen against Joseph Falci, John R. Seaman and Vera Seaman. After being out for some time the jury reported to the court in the affirmative and Erichsen consequently will receive the relief he sought.

Seaman purchased the place as a gift for his daughter and at that time there existed a chattel mortgage on the premises. It was over a year old at the time and had never been recorded. Had Seaman not known of the existence of the mortgage his claim to the premises would have been good as the law provides that a chattel mortgage not filed within a year falls in the event a purchaser secures the property without having knowledge of the existence of the mortgage.

The mortgage is secured by notes which Erichsen holds and the action was a foreclosure of the mortgage due to non payment of the notes. Shortly after Seaman took possession of the place the sheriff seized the fixtures in the place under an execution. Seaman appeared in his own behalf and H. A. Lent and John F. Wadlin for the plaintiff.

$150,000 Army Post Fire. Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP).—The detonation of 27 M.M. blank cartridges and the explosion of machine guns and other small arms ammunition threw the army post here into an uproar last night as fire swept through the U. S. Army Medical Field Service School, causing damage which authorities today estimated at $150,000.

King George Has Long, Difficult Struggle Ahead

Latest Official Word Contained in Message Sent on Behalf of Queen Mary in Reply to President Coolidge's Cable to the King.

London, Dec. 14 (AP).—Although King George has successfully passed through a very critical phase of his illness, the latest official word from Buckingham Palace today indicated that there was a long and difficult struggle ahead of him before the danger point is surmounted and he has reached a convalescent stage.

The latest official word was contained in a message sent by Lord St. Fotham, the king's private secretary, on behalf of Queen Mary in reply to President Coolidge's message to the king. The message said: The queen is most grateful to you, Mr. President, for your kind message of which His Majesty will in due course be informed as soon as his strength permits. Though the recent operation successfully treated one phase of the king's serious illness, the consequences of the general infection will entail weeks of slow and anxious progress before convalescence can be reached.

This message was more informative than the morning's official bulletin, which stated: "The slight improvement in the king's condition noted last evening is maintained. Any progress must be slow and difficult."

Indicating the greatly weakened state that the king must be in after the trying operations of Wednesday, and the effects of infection on his system, was the fact made known by the queen's message that the king had not yet been informed of Mr. Coolidge's cablegram. This, it was stated, would be communicated to him only when he gained a sufficient measure of strength.

Greater Confidence. An air of slightly greater confidence prevailed among household officials at the palace today. It was emphasized, however, that considerable anxiety for the king must continue. The general infection of his system was understood to be the cause of this concern, which it was felt would continue until it was definitely known whether the king's strength was sufficient to banish the microbes from his body.

The lessening of the tense anxiety of the past few days was reflected in the diminution to some extent of crowds around the palace and the altered attitude of those who came to read the bulletin board. Recently spectators had been plainly fearful of bad news. Most of them today approached the board with an air of more confidence. There was a feeling, however, that overconfidence would be illadvised and that King George is still in such a state as to cause the nation great concern.

$142,598,047 For Agriculture

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP).—The House received from its appropriations committee today the third of the nine big annual supply measures, that for the agriculture department, providing $142,598,047, a decrease of $1,115,246 from the total for the current year.

In lopping off $585,648 from budget estimates for next fiscal year, the committee adhered to its policy of trimming original recommendations as it did in both the Treasury-postoffice and interior bills. Several million dollars were cut from budget proposals in the latter measures.

In addition to the $142,598,047, the bill reported today provides $11,048,436 for the permanent annual appropriations of the department which had been previously authorized and require no congressional approval at this time.

Among the important items in the bill are $74,000,000 for federal aid highways; $838,000 for corn borer control; $8,000,000 for forest roads and trails; $567,500 for gypsy and brown-tail moth control; a reappropriation of $97,129 of an available unexpended balance from pink boll worm eradication, and $1,440,000 for agricultural experiment stations.

Postpone Action Again on Treaty

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP).—For the third time, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee postponed action today on the Kellogg Treaty to outlaw war.

Although Chairman Borah had hoped that a vote could be taken on the treaty, several Senators, including Reed of Missouri and Shipstead of Minnesota, desired to discuss the treaty's relation with the Monroe Doctrine and in general more fully go over all of the documents which figured in the negotiations.

Seeks to Open Divorce Papers In Blythe Case

Counsel for Maurice Costello Makes Application to Inspect Divorce Papers in Case of John Blythe, Better Known as John Barrymore.

Application has been made to Supreme Court Judge Pierce H. Russell by counsel on the part of Maurice Costello, father of Dolores Costello Blythe, to open the divorce papers in the case of Blanche Blythe against John Blythe, better known as John Barrymore. The papers, which are on file in the Ulster county clerk's office, were ordered sealed by Judge Russell who granted the interlocutory decree of divorce at Albany on October 14.

An attorney representing a New York firm of lawyers appeared before Judge Nichols at a regular special term of the Supreme court and moved to have the papers opened for inspection. He stated he appeared for Maurice Costello, father of Dolores Costello. Judge Nichols who appointed John W. Eckert of this city referee to take testimony in the divorce action, refused to hear the motion and referred counsel to Judge Russell who had ordered the papers sealed on the grounds that he alone knew the contents and whether they should be opened.

At the present term of the Supreme court counsel then appeared before Judge Russell and moved for the opening of the sealed documents. Judge Russell at that time refused to consider the matter on the grounds that counsel presented no affidavit sworn to by Maurice Costello of California showing that he had authorized counsel to appear for him. Counsel was directed to procure such affidavit and present it to the court showing that he was authorized to represent Maurice Costello. If this is done the matter will be considered.

The divorce case to light when John Blythe, better known as John Barrymore among motion picture circles, married as his third wife Dolores Costello, on November 24. At that time it was not known and a decree of divorce had been granted Mrs. Blythe. It was then found that a decree of divorce had been granted. The interlocutory decree was granted by Judge Russell to Blanche Blythe against John Blythe on August 14 at Albany on testimony taken by a referee and which is now filed in this county and ordered by the court sealed. The interlocutory decree became final three months later and on November 24 Barrymore married Miss Costello, the screen star whom he had played opposite in pictures.

Mrs. Blythe is better known under her pen name of Michael Strange. Custody of the daughter is given Mrs. Blythe.

The motion now made, presumably on the part of Dolores Costello Blythe's father, would indicate that her parent desired to inspect the divorce papers granted Mrs. Blythe in her divorce against John Blythe. The papers are at present sealed and deposited in the safe of the county clerk at the office here. County Clerk Geroldsek stated that he had taken the papers from the usual filing place and placed them in the safe in order to assure their safety from prying eyes until such time as he receives a court order authorizing their inspection.

Capture Vessel and Liquor Cargo

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—The yacht-rigged steamer Harbour Trader lay alongside a Staten Island pier today, lightened of her $150,000 liquor cargo. The ten men of her crew awaited arraignment on charges of violating the prohibition law.

Coast guard officials who brought her in said the Harbour Trader was the mother-ship of a rum fleet stationed off shore with a half million dollar cargo from which she delivered consignments to smaller vessels which ran the gauntlet to shore.

The vessel was captured by a coast guard patrol boat early yesterday as she stole along hugging the Long Island shore. Two shots from the patrol boat halted her.

The crew offered no resistance. Aboard were 1,500 cases of whiskey, but the coast guardmen believed she had cleared with 3,500 cases last month from St. Pierre, Miquelon.

Work and Spend, Says Henry Ford

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP).—Henry Ford's advice to youth is to work and spend. On his way to a White House dinner last night, he stopped long enough to give this bit of counsel. In so doing he ran somewhat counter to the old maxim, work and save.

You often hear advice given to young boys that to succeed they must work and save their money. Mr. Ford said, "This is partly wrong. No successful boy ever saved any money. They spent it as fast as they could for things to improve themselves."

As a case in point, he mentioned Thomas Edison as never having had "any money until he got so much he couldn't spend it."

Whatever his attitude toward saving, Mr. Ford believes in work. "Instill in the minds of the young men that they will never get anything without work," he said. "I never knew a young man that was worth a few cents that wouldn't work and even occasionally get into trouble in his efforts to learn."

"When I was a young fellow," he continued, "I got kicked out of about as many shops as I was welcomed to." He explained that in his effort to learn about machinery he would slip into machine shops whenever possible and watch their operations. Another requisite to advancing in the world is becoming a teacher, Mr. Ford believes. He recalled that both he and Edison in working out their plans had to teach others to make almost every piece of machinery they needed.

Mr. Ford said the museum he is building near the Ford airport at Dearborn, Michigan, was in reality a school with the purpose of making young men efficient in some particular art, and told of one of his latest acquisitions, an early printing press that Mark Twain had once labored over.

The automobile manufacturer had a word of praise for President Coolidge, declaring that he "will go down in history as a great President."

He said he believed that the President often had been misunderstood on the subject of economy. Mr. Ford expressed the opinion that an aim in demanding economy in government had been to prevent "the toppling of the government by too many employees."

Suit Prepared Against Sinclair

For The Recovery of Profits Made In Its Operation of The Government Oil Fields Since It Obtained The Contract.

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP).—William J. Donovan, assistant to the attorney general, told a Senate investigating committee today that fraud proceedings have been prepared against the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company which held a contract for the Salt Creek Royalty Oil, recently cancelled.

The suit under consideration, Donovan said, is for the recovery of profits made by the company in its operation of the government oil fields since it obtained the contract from Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the Interior, in 1922.

It has been estimated that a sum of about $4,000,000 is involved. The Sinclair contract was renewed last February by Secretary Work of the Interior Department, but it was cancelled last October after an inquiry by the Department of Justice.

"What is the object of filing fraud papers now?" asked Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, "after the contract is cancelled?" "For recovery to the government," replied Donovan.

CROOKED POKER LED TO KILLING

Arnold Rothstein 'Welshed' on Bets at Stud and Was Shot.

New York.—From some of the boys in the know, this story of the big $1,000,000 poker game in which Arnold Rothstein, one of New York's best-known gamblers, crossed some $300,000 and in which was born the enmity that led to his shooting, was told recently after his death.

Its narrators differ somewhat in their versions of it, but in essential details all the versions click.

This is the story:
The game was started September 27. It was six o'clock in the morning two days later before the last hand was played. That game lasted 30 hours.

Rothstein was invited to the session by George McManus, a gambler friend who enjoys the reputation among the brotherhood of being on the up and up. Rothstein and McManus dropped around shortly before midnight on the night of September 27.

Takes an Evening Out.
"Nigger" Raymond, whose real title is Nathan Brooks, a boy from the Pacific coast, was there. Raymond, or Brooks, as you prefer, brought with him to New York his bride. But he took time off on this gala occasion for an evening with the boys.

Meyer Boston, who may or may not have acquired his name from the Hub, was another of the players.

That made four around the table. There were four more.

There was Nick the Greek, the gentleman who dropped $1,000,000 in a single session two winters ago.

There was Joe Bernstein, a quiet, modest-mannered chap, also from the Pacific coast. But, strangely enough, he is said not to have been acquainted personally with "Nigger" Raymond.

And "Titanic," who came from Chicago clothed in clouds of glory and with a reputation corresponding to his name—the only name that most men knew him by—was present.

Max the Dude sits in. Last, there was Max the Dude. His name explains him, too.

These seven and Rothstein, the greatest gambler of them all.

They ripped open new packs of cards. Liquor and cigarettes were handy for those who indulged. Rothstein himself neither smoked nor drank. His hobby was gambling and he allowed nothing to stand in its way.

They started with straight stud poker—one of the many varieties of the game, the one that calls for the quickest action, the highest nerve tension.

Betting began gently. The standard bet at first was $100, a "century." But as the hours moved on it approached $1,000, a "grand."

As long as he stuck to straight stud, Rothstein won. In the first few hours of playing he collected something like $30,000 from the boys—and in good negotiable cash.

But some one, possibly Rothstein himself, started a little side betting to liven things up a bit. He would say, for instance:

"A thousand I hold a higher spade than you, Titanic."

Side Betting Sinks Him.
It was this side betting that sank Rothstein. But as he lost steadily, he handed out, not cash, but markers, mere memoranda on which he scrawled his signatures in pencil.

There was nothing unusual about this. Others there did the same thing. Markers in the profession are regarded as good, if not better, than certified checks.

But it led to several strange circumstances. Bernstein, for instance, lost $12,000 in cash to Rothstein, but won $60,000 in markers.

"Nigger" Raymond came out of the game with about $200,000 due him in Rothstein markers.

"Titanic" crossed through with about $100,000 to the good. Max the Dude and Meyer Boston trailed with $50,000 apiece in markers.

After Rothstein had had a couple of days to think things over, he began to wonder. He began to wonder still more when his little goods reached him that the great Rothstein, had been taken as easily as a little child.

He heard, for example, that some of the players at the party had arranged for a cut with certain racketeers. Why this rumored cut should have been arranged no one could explain.

So Rothstein wondered.
Decides Not to Pay.
Rothstein was a proud man.

He was proud, for one thing, of his reputation. And he knew, with those little rumors floating around town, that if he did kick in and pay his markers in the face of these rumors he would be the laughing stock of the town.

So Rothstein made up his mind that he wouldn't pay.

Previous to the shooting of Rothstein there had been attempts at arbitration. There had been negotiations back and forth and the customary exchange of formalities, but they led to nothing.

"VIVA LA DOCTRINA MONROE"

One of the banners displayed in honor of Mr. Hoover in Lima, the capital of Peru, carried the inscription quoted above, although the famous doctrine has never been invoked in the interests of Peru, as it has been for the protection of Venezuela and Mexico from European interference. The doctrine was also referred to in the speech of welcome to Mr. Hoover by the President of Peru, who in rather grandiloquent rhetoric applauded "the inherent horror of all conquest which inspired Monroe's challenge to the slave-driving powers of the earth." Much more notable and important, however, was the further assertion of President Lligula that there could be no toleration for those who sought to disrupt the friendship between North and South America "under the cloak of a transformation of the Monroe doctrine in favor of intervention."

This suggests indirect but pointed notification to Mr. Hoover that, though the original Monroe doctrine is gratefully approved, some of its modern applications are regarded as offensive and even intolerable by Latin Americans. It is obvious that in their view the doctrine is now susceptible to disturbing "transformations" and that what they fear is its modern flexibility or elasticity, its vagueness and the uncertainty as to the conditions under which it may be applied. In illustration of this feeling, the President of the Argentine Republic a few years since characterized it as a "rubber" doctrine that might easily be stretched in unexpected directions. No doubt the South Americans will be unwaveringly polite to Mr. Hoover, but he will be fortunate if he gets home without being asked to give a precise definition of the Monroe doctrine in its "elastic" modern form.

BACHELOR KINGS.

The announcement by a news agency that the Prince of Wales would be the "fifth British bachelor King" is misleading. Richard II, who was born in 1367, was crowned at the age of ten and waited to marry until he was sixteen, can hardly be described as a "bachelor King." Nor can Edward VI, who was born in 1537, ascended the throne at the age of nine, and died at sixteen before he really had time to pick a Queen.

More nearly a precedent for the Prince of Wales as a "bachelor King" was George III, who lost the American Colonies. He succeeded his grandfather at the age of 22, but because he was still unmarried his coronation was delayed a year while he looked around and his marriage was finally "hastily arranged" with Charlotte Sophia, daughter of the Prince of Mecklenburg-Strelitz. The nuptials were hurried because of the age-old fear of dynastic quarrels liable to follow the death of a King without issue.

The only complete precedent for the Prince of Wales, should he succeed to the crown while a bachelor, was furnished by William Rufus, third son of William the Conqueror, who succeeded to the throne in 1087 and died—still a bachelor—twenty-three years later.

It has been announced by "a scientist"—whose name does not appear in the account before us—that mechanics are our most intelligent class, with engineers and technical men second, business men third, and doctors, ministers and professors "just above the lowest moron group." No murmur of dissent has yet come from the low-graded professions, but "several engineers" are reported to have loudly protested that they rank far above mechanics, citing as proof of their claim that at least one engineer has been elected President of the United States.

Dr. Raymond Pearl concludes that this country is afflicted with "prostitution laws and easy liquor." Possibly that is something more than cynicism, for according to Prohibition, even the most remote activity.

cost $200,000 a year for Congress to "fund" in the police business—that is to say, undertake anything but an effective effort at enforcement; and, in addition, the country would have to be "covered" with Federal courts. Neither the taxpayers nor the friends of local self-government would like that.

Worthington C. Ford believes the Atlantic Monthly invested in a gold brick when it accepted as genuine the alleged love letters of Abraham Lincoln to Ann Rutledge, now appearing in the magazine. The controversy will add to the Atlantic's circulation even if the letters fail to brighten the fame of Abraham Lincoln.

The slums of Harlem—the "Nigger Heaven" of Van Vechten's story—are now said to rival in overcrowding the worst districts of the immigrant-crowded lower East Side. New York City now has a negro population of 250,000, of which Harlem contains 170,000.

The writer of the headline, "Only Two in 10,000 Escape City's Jails," was a bit too eager to save space. He did not mean to announce that 9,998 persons in every 10,000 were sent to prison but merely that on the average only two prisoners in 10,000 manage to escape from the city's jails.

OLD AND NEW DOCTORS.

An editorial writer, in speaking of the modern physician as compared with the physician of just a few years back, compares things as in warfare.

"The early physician had no search lights, no star shells to light up the battle field, nor any airplanes or captive balloons to spy out the invaders. He did his best with the equipment at his disposal, and was frequently successful.

This older type of medical practice must now be put away with the horse pistol, the blunderbuss, and the muzzle loading cannon, because this is the day of accuracy and high power explosives. There is now the microscope which causes "spot" the organism that is nature of the blood, the urine, and waste from the intestine; the X-ray machine which can diagnose a broken bone, a dislocated joint, a cancer and ulcer of stomach and intestine, stones in the gall bladder and kidneys; the electrocardiograph which shows exactly how the nerves and muscles of the heart are performing their work; the sphygmomanometer that tells the exact blood pressure; the electric ophthalmoscope for accurate detection of eye ailments; chemical tests of the blood, urine, and other fluids of the body, and many other "helps."

And naturally if you have found out the nature of the ailment there is now more up-to-date treatment of these ailments than in past days. The use of the X-ray and radium in the treatment of chronic skin conditions and even cancer.

The use of light, heat, massage, electricity and other agents are now on a scientific and established basis. You can readily understand therefore that the modern physician approaches a patient with more knowledge and confidence than his brethren of the past.

And yet the physician of the past possessed something that the modern physician unless he is watchful, may fall short of. Because he had not so much mechanical equipment to help him, the older physician had to examine and question the patient very closely.

He thus obtained a knowledge of human nature that was "half the battle" in his diagnosis and treatment. Mechanical helps do not get the "full" story from the patient. Only the doctor's own personality obtains that.

FREED FROM THE MEDICINE HABIT

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought welcome relief

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in Mrs. Van Horn's letter below. She wrote us, voluntarily, to express her appreciation for the wonderful results ALL-BRAN brought.

June 17, 1927.
"I feel as if I must write you a few lines to let you know what a wonder food ALL-BRAN is and what it has done for me and many others I may have read it. I have been using it for the past year and have a movement every morning. I was taking medicine every three or four days. Now I never take any. Many thanks to ALL-BRAN. I can't praise it too much."

Sincerely,
Mrs. G. W. Van Horn,
2125 S. 67th St., Philadelphia.
Don't let constipation sap your health and strength. Headaches, dizziness, bloated complexion are only a few of the evils it causes. It is responsible for more than forty serious diseases.

Guard against it—now, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN is a ready-to-eat cereal—100% bran. Delicious and healthful with milk or cream, or with fruit or honey added. Recipes on package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

USE OF MOVIE FILMS FOR EDUCATION GROWS RAPIDLY

15,000 Institutions Are Now Equipped for Motion Picture Instruction in Classes

Washington—Visual instruction in the use of motion pictures has developed rapidly in recent years. A report by the United States Department of Education showed recently that the use of motion pictures in the classroom is increasing at a rapid rate. The report also showed that the use of motion pictures in the classroom is increasing at a rapid rate.

Many state universities maintain film libraries and regularly supply educational films to schools and community organizations in their states. Yale has co-operated in producing an American historical film and Harvard is adding in making films relating to science.

In a number of cities it is now the practice to equip every new schoolhouse with projecting machines. Cleveland now has such apparatus in nearly every school. Use of this form of instruction is said to be increasing rapidly notwithstanding objections that learning through pictures is too easy and that it results in mental indolence.

Despite the recent progress, however, the bureau said, many film companies organized to manufacture educational films have been forced to the wall because not enough schools were using their product regularly to enable them to make a profit.

The number of text films which may be used in connection with daily teaching is still far from adequate, the bureau reported. Improved mechanical equipment and development of the portable machine has now virtually eliminated any operation problem, according to the bureau.

Mental Transformation

In the course of some investigations of epilepsy, a French neurologist secured some specimens of writing begun before epileptic seizure and continued during that state. His report is that the part written in a normal and lucid state is correct as to form and content, while the part written in an epileptic state is incorrect in both content and form. The defects in the writing appear suddenly, with no transitional phase, and affect the penmanship and the composition. The letters have become curved, the outlines have been enlarged and the forms have been changed. The composition is a strange, incoherent conglomeration of words and ideas.

Over $3,200 For Boy Scouts

While there was not a large attendance at the meeting of the workers interested in the Boy Scout Financial Campaign held at the Advance Restaurant, yet they were both enthusiastic and optimistic. They reported having secured $712 in cash and pledges since the last meeting a few days ago. This makes a total for Kingston of over $3,200. It is realized that this is not an opportunity time to conduct a campaign. There were a number of workers who have cards and who have not completed their canvass who will continue. There is no question about securing the quota for Kingston and the workers will continue until this is reached.

Great assistance could be rendered if those who are interested in this project would mail their check to the Boy Scout headquarters, 142 Broadway, Kingston. Checks may be made out to Arthur J. Burns, treasurer.

His Ambition
"Ambition," said Norbert Quinn, "is a funny thing. My friend, Christopher Morley, prince of fantasy and Twentieth-century Elizabethan, confessed that he wished that he could draw and also that he could write successful plays.

"Quite in contrast to my little friend William, who is saving up money to buy an airplane. 'It's a very worthy motive,' I told him. 'You are quite an ambitious boy.'"

"You bet I am," William agreed and added, "You see, I want to fly over Bobby Willet's yard and drop down bricks on him."

Feeling Square of Number
Suppose you desire the square of a certain number, but discover that you have lost the mental power to multiply. How could you find its square? Begin with one and add as many consecutive odd numbers as there are units in the number to be squared. Suppose you want to find the square of six. Add together the first six odd numbers—1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11. The sum of these is 36, the square of six. The square of seven is equal to the sum of the first seven odd numbers taken consecutively. Likewise the square of ten is equal to the sum of the first ten odd numbers taken consecutively, etc., etc.—Pathfinder Magazine.

B. C. Observatory Found
Believed to have been constructed in 1181 B. C., an astronomical observatory has been unearthed at Buetzow, Germany. The observatory is in the form of circles of stones, which served for the observation of the annual circuit of the sun and also as a calendar.

How We Sound
Perhaps hearing ourselves as others hear us would be worse than just seeing—Terre Haute Tribune.

Singing Insects Bred as Pets by Japanese

It is in the summer that Japan's traffic in singing insects becomes most brisk. The largest wholesale insect store in the country offers its customers a rich variety of little singing friends.

The common katydid, or cricket, can be had for the equivalent of a dime, but the katsumamushi, a noisier creature, fetches a quarter. During the early summer season fireflies cost about a cent apiece, but the price drops as summer advances and 100 of the merry fellows can be purchased for as little as 75 cents.

The chief insect store in Japan maintains three breeding stations in the suburbs of Tokyo, and it prides itself on supplying the imperial household with indispensable bugs.

A really fine insect cage sells for as much as $100, occupants and all. Protection of the insects' eggs calls for the highest skill, and under no circumstances are visitors allowed to enter the breeding grounds, whose pampered occupants live on mulberry leaves.—Living Age.

Equal to the Occasion
With scarcely a sound the luxurious car pulled before the seaside hotel, and an old gray-haired man descended.

"My doctor advises me to stay where the south wind blows continually," he remarked to the manager. "Does it blow here?"
"It does, sir," returned the other. "You are very fortunate to have stopped at exactly the right place. The south wind always blows here." The old man stuck a moistened finger in the air.
"Always," he repeated. "Are you sure? It appears to be coming from the north just now."
"You're right of course, sir. It's on its way back."

Starting the Hardest
The hardest thing is starting work. In the time we fiddle around before getting under way we might have the most difficult job half done. Things are rarely as hard to do as we think they are going to be. We suffer most in anticipation. It's really fear that keeps us from starting. The water's fine when we get in. The least pain comes when we plunge. The wind is coldest when we dawdle on the bank.—Capper's Weekly.

Billie Dove

Handsome Billie Dove, "movie" star, proclaims her freedom from the use of rouge and powder puff. This is due to new improvements in screen lighting. Even the new lighting improvements would not have permitted Miss Dove to appear facially unadorned were it not for her strikingly beautiful complexion and gorgeous pool-like eyes. "Adoration" and "The Night Watch" are among her latest pictures.

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

THE general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce remarked in a recent address, "With production for nine months in excess of the full year of 1927, there is every indication that 4,510,000 motor vehicles will be made by American manufacturers during the present year, or 107,000 units greater than 1926 and 1,037,000 more than last year. While approximately 650,000 cars and trucks will go to 107 foreign countries, the 33,000 dealers in the United States will market almost 4,000,000 new vehicles this year, and at least 3,000,000 new cars."

After reading these remarks we naturally ask ourselves what does it mean. Is the result of the automobile industry expressed only in terms of pleasure and comfort? That the automobile has become a fixed necessity in business is an established fact. But, indirectly it argues for prosperity. As a result of the automobile industry, real estate values have been greatly increased because it has brought the country next door to the city. It has brought employment to innumerable persons who otherwise would now days be out of work, having been displaced by automatic machinery. The good roads of the country would have been impossible had it not been for the automobile tourist. "Government studies have shown clearly that it is cheaper to have roads than to go without them—the use of them brings large returns in lowered transportation costs as well as in increased property valuations and all other benefits which grow out of improved roads." This is at once apparent when it is remembered that a little over one-half of all the automobiles in this country are owned by persons living in towns of 10,000 population or less.

In addition to the industrial progress which may account to a large extent for the increase in automobile production, other causes have made their contribution to that end—the lower cost of machines, the cost of gasoline which is much less than it was several years ago, the removal of the war tax which only recently went into effect, and the growing tendency for families to own two cars instead of only one. The automobile industry has contributed important values to our progressive age.

CRAVES PRISON CELL TO ESCAPE HUMDRUM LIFE

Woman Forges Checks in Expectation of Penitentiary Sentence.

Kansas City, Mo.—An attractive, brown-eyed divorced woman, charged with forging checks totaling about $500, started May 11. Ely, chief of detectives here, by admitting that she had forged the checks because she was tired of humdrum life and wanted to go to the penitentiary.

"Yes," she said, "I did it. And, if you please, I would like to be sent to the penitentiary right away. That's what I did it for."

Mrs. George W. Newman, twenty-three, tossed her black bobbed head and looked earnestly at the chief while she made the request.

"Why, really," asked Chief Ely, who is used to hearing all sorts of reasons why people want to go to the penitentiary. "Why does a woman like you want to go there?"

Just Tired of Life.

"Oh, just because," was the reply. "I'm just tired of the humdrum of the life I'm leading now. Too tame."

Chief Ely, because he had no other course open to him, sent the woman to the prosecutor's office—the first step, at least, in granting her request. Mrs. Newman was divorced recently in St. Louis.

The victim of the woman's forgeries was Mrs. Lela Bollman, 2734 Troost avenue, who has been Mrs. Newman's friend many years—who was, in fact, her chum when the two of them lived in Tulsa several years ago. Mrs. Newman frequently had visited Mrs. Bollman's home here.

Pearl Horn and D. B. Lesley, detectives, were called to a shoe store. There they were informed a young woman had given the store a check for $32 in payment for two pairs of shoes. She said she would call later for the shoes after the buttons had been set.

In the meantime, the shoe store manager learned from a bank on which the check was drawn that Mrs. Bollman, whose name was signed, had ordered the arrest of a woman who was cashing checks on her account.

Glad She's Caught.

So the detectives were waiting when the young woman returned for the shoes. She was Mrs. Newman.

"Oh, I am glad you've finally caught me," Mrs. Newman said with a friendly smile. "I've been trying four days to get arrested."

It was not until the arrest was made that Mrs. Bollman was informed she was being defrauded by her friend. Mrs. Bollman went to the prosecutor's office and indicated she would prosecute.

And there again Mrs. Newman reiterated that she had intentionally planned the forgeries as a means of getting into the penitentiary.

"I just become tired of everything," she said. "I was dreadfully bored with life. I decided I would rather become a criminal and go to prison. At first I thought I would murder some one. But that would be cruel. I decided then I would steal."

The women turned over to detectives every bit of merchandise she had purchased with the checks.

"I don't want anybody to lose anything," she said. "I just want to get in the penitentiary."

Baby Without Name

Gets Three in a Row

Kansas City, Mo.—Discovering an abandoned baby boy in the union station, three policemen, named Clancy, Morrison and Boyle, took him to St. Anthony's Home for Infants.

"What's the baby's name?" asked a nurse.

"Clancy," replied one policeman.

"Morrison," said another.

"Boyle," insisted the third.

And so the baby was named Clancy Morrison Boyle.

Forced to Be Bored

Paris.—Rather than marry the man she loved and so saddle him with a wife who eventually would become an invalid, twenty-nine-year-old Marie Berthelot of St. Jean d'Ardeux, near St. Etienne, ended her life.

Drunken Horse Nets

$15 Fine for Owner

New York.—Joseph Lichocky, fifty-five, was arraigned before Magistrate Harry Howard Dale recently on a charge of cruelty to animals. He was summoned to court by John F. Miller, agent of the S. P. C. A.

Miller testified that a horse Lichocky was driving acted in a peculiar manner.

"In fact," Miller said, "I believe the horse was intoxicated."

Magistrate Dale asked Lichocky if this could be possible.

"Yes," replied Lichocky. "I may have given him a nip or two to brace him up."

Magistrate Dale imposed a $15 fine.

CONVICT DECLINES FREEDOM FROM CELL

Confined 45 Years, He Calls Prison Home.

Charleston, S. C.—Walls have not a prison made—but have made a home for Henry Scrivens, negro, now in his forty-fifth year of confinement at the state penitentiary.

Deceitful, partially paralyzed, the prisoner who began his life within the walls in 1885 for "burglary and larceny" fears more than any other one thing—freedom. He runs away from outsiders and when granted a parole in 1924, came back tearfully after three months, begging to be allowed "to come home again."

No one knows what Scrivens stole—Scrivens himself has forgotten in these later years, for his memory has failed—but some say it was an anchor from a boat. The prison record simply says:

"Henry Scrivens, No. 19,869, Charleston county. Burglary and larceny. Sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Watts in 1885. Sentence suspended June 1, 1924, and voluntarily returned September 17, 1924."

It is the old negro's duty to keep the second floor of the prison infirmary clean. Prison officials say it is spotless. From the second floor of the infirmary to his cell tier is Scrivens' world. He will only venture into other corridors when ordered. He trembles and weeps when in any other part of the prison.

Scrivens has outlived all other prisoners who came here during the past century.

Wealth From "Scrap"

By the system of reclamation of the scrap pile, now being generally followed by nearly all the railroad companies, bright new tin buckets, cups and other articles are being manufactured from old metal roofing, empty powder and carbide containers and other junk salvaged. Old broom handles are made into staffs for signal flags, old canvas is transformed into curtains for the locomotive cabs and coaches, steam-pipe coverings and aprons. Thrift practices such as these save the carriers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

DECEMBER
ROSES

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WE TALK enough when years are young:
It seems we get our songs all sung
In days of youth, our love all spoken;
And then a curtain seems to fall
Between our hearts, and leave us all
Without a word, without a token.

Prince Charming makes a gloomy king,
Our troubadours forget to sing,
And small the grace of grayling lovers,
The lips that once were overbold
Become the silent and the cold,
As many a lady soon discovers.

And so, methinks, the knightliest knight
Is not the one so quick to fight
For some one fair in life's first journey,
But rather he who takes a bride
To watch, to ward, to walk beside,
With love enough to last the journey.

And, husbands of these later days,
Aye, husbands once so quick to praise,
This simple thought let men remember:
The knightliest husband is the one,
When spring is past, when summer's done,
Who brings her roses in December.

Now Enjoys His Meals Without the Fear of Severe Distress After

Indigestion, Gas in Stomach, Kidney Disorders and Rheumatism Relieved By Nu-Erb, Says Local Man

Never a day passes now, but that someone is telling the Nu-Erb man at McBride's Drug Store, 312 Wall Street, of the wonderful good to be obtained through the use of this great herbal preparation. Among the most recent is Mr. Simon Chambers, 64 East Pierpoint Street, Kingston, N. Y., who is a well-known employee of Dwyer Bros., Shipbuilders.

"My stomach was in such bad shape that I suffered from indigestion after every meal," said Mr. Chambers. "Gas formed in large quantities and caused severe distress and pain, so that I was afraid to eat. My kidneys were very weak, causing a dull aching pain across my back, rheumatism settled in my joints and muscles causing them to become stiff, sore and swollen."

"I tried lots of different medicines, but nothing ever helped me to speak of until I started taking Nu-Erb a short time ago. This medicine seemed to go right to the spot that was causing my distress and now I can eat about anything I want without fearing any distress or pain in my stomach after. My kidneys too are apparently in fine shape. The pain has left my back and I am no longer troubled with rheumatism. I gladly recommend this medicine to others and am convinced that for troubles such as mine there has never been anything like it."

Dr. French's Nu-Erb, the herbal medicine that did so much for this party is made from the pure liquid extracts of twelve different herbs, roots, barks and leaves, which act on the vital organs of the human body. It tones and regulates the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and drives poisons from the system which are so often the cause of the demon rheumatism and neuritis. Nu-Erb is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

McBride's Drug Store, 312 Wall Street is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this master medicine.

Famous Swiss Cheese Is Family Heirloom

Berne, Switzerland. — The oldest cheese in captivity is among the proud possessions of the village of Serre. It is a cheese of the Swiss persuasion, weighing 14 pounds. Its age, one hundred fifty years, is guaranteed by a declaration of the owner and an attestation of the communal authorities, which records the name of its maker and those of the persons who have successively inherited it.

It was made in the month of June, 1778, and created an heirloom in commemoration of a happy event in the family of its maker. Ever since it has been handed down from father to son.

Indian Fighter Seeks $125 for Shot Horse

Washington.—Back in the time of the Custer massacre William J. Bailey, seventy-nine-year-old veteran of many skirmishes with the Indians, had a horse shot from under him.

Today that horse is worth $125 to Bailey. If he can prove it was killed in battle. From his sick bed the old campaigner sent out a request that Deadwood Dick, another famous character of those stirring days, come visit him so they can talk over the old days and determine if by chance Deadwood Dick saw the horse after it was killed.

Deadwood Dick is one of the few remaining scouts who served under General Custer when the Dakota frontier was being pushed westward. He arrived in Washington to invite President Coolidge to pass the summer in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Deadwood Dick's real name is Richard Clark.

Old Meteorite Found

Tucson, Ariz. — Iron-like lumps found while excavating Eldon Ruin, five miles east of Flagstaff, are declared by E. S. Heinenman, geologist of the Arizona bureau of mines, to be fragments of a meteorite which may have fallen a thousand years ago. Dean Cummings of the State university believes Indians probably saw it fall and took it to their pueblo to worship.

Color and Sound.

It is said that at least 2 per cent of human beings associate a particular color with each sound they hear and sometimes this extends to the names of days of the week.

CREEK LOCKS

Creek Locks, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Alonzo Sagar, Mrs. George Sagar and Richard Sagar were Kingston shoppers on Saturday.

Patrick Bergen closed his home some time ago and returned to live with his daughter, Mrs. John Maloney, of Kingston.

Miss Nellie Regan of Kingston spent Sunday at her home here. Miss Beatrice Fries spent Sunday with her mother and nudes.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Brinkman and sons, George and Frederick, of Kingston, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown on Sunday.

Quite a number from here attended the movies on Sunday afternoon. They are very glad to have an opportunity to have a little recreation on the only day they can attend as there is no chance to go on a working day.

Miss Jennie Utter, who occupied Mrs. D. DeVals' bungalow since last spring, returned to her home in New York some time ago.

Mrs. M. O'Connor of Bloomington Terrace spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. Emma Reilly.

Oscar Hahn is having a brooder house built. George Erl is the carpenter.

John Lowery spent Sunday afternoon with Timothy Regan.

The meeting at the schoolhouse on Monday evening was well attended and the taxpayers voted to have electric lighting installed. The electricians will start to work this week and it is expected to be ready for the Christmas entertainment.

This community was shocked and saddened by the death of a splendid young man, James A. Walsh. Deep felt sympathy is extended to his parents and sister.

Miss Katherine O'Connor and her pupils are very busy these days rehearsing for their Christmas entertainment which promises to be exceptionally good this year.

Thomas Graham has his car for sale.

Greenwich Clocks.

Probably the most accurate clocks in the world are two at Greenwich observatory. Each is checked every 30 seconds by a pendulum, made of an alloy of steel and nickel called Invar, swinging in a vacuum. A change of temperature of one degree Fahrenheit causes these pendulums to vary, but not more than a three-thousandth of a second in 24 hours.

Ex-Convict Gains

Wealth in One Year

Berlin.—Less than a year out of a German prison, Michael Holzman has accumulated a fortune of more than $100,000 in France and is making a new trial here, claiming that he was not guilty of the fraud for which he went to jail. Holzman is now the owner of a bank and several hotels. When he left prison he owned only a typewriter, which he sold to buy a ticket to Paris. There he borrowed a small amount of money from old friends.

Local P.-T. A.'s Held Meetings

Wednesday evening a particularly pleasing program was given by the Kingston High School Parent-Teacher Association, and was enjoyed by a large attendance. The program had been arranged by Mr. Brumm of the high school faculty. The opening number was a piano solo by Miss Eunice Shaban which was delightfully rendered and she was forced to respond with an encore.

An informal and very instructive talk was given by Dr. M. J. Michael, superintendent of schools, who filled the breach caused by the absence of Miss Smith who was to have spoken. A spirited personal appeal was made to the parents of the high school students in the third and fourth years by H. H. Phelan, president of the board of education, who stressed the great need of home cooperation by the parents of the students who could and should enter into the real problems of their children and endeavor to make these problems easier to solve.

Principal Van Ingen of the high school spoke briefly on the report cards for this term many of which showed a falling down in almost every subject. This serious situation gives food for thought. Principal Van Ingen's talk brought the program to a close.

School No. 2 P.-T. A.

A large group of mothers and teachers attended the December meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 2. Preceding the business session a double feature program was given. "Toothbrush Phantasy", a playlet in three scenes, was given by the following children: Irving Albright, Raymond Dixon, Mary O'Connor, Agnes Brandt, Evelyn Doyle, Beverly Berman, Mabel Bowers, Alfred Wood, Henry Albright, Herbert Wolfe. This little drama was prepared under the direction of the Misses Hale and Thompson and served as a fitting introduction to the second feature of the program, a talk by the school nurse, Miss Blakesley, who told of her health work in the city, with special reference to the needs of the children in School No. 2. Her well prepared talk gave timely information and indicated ways in which parents individually, as well as through the association, could assist the school physician and nurse in correcting some bad health conditions now existing. Following this enjoyable program the regular order of business was followed with reports of committees and planning for future activities. Mrs. Luedtke, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Reuther were named as a committee to take charge of the Christmas work of the association.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, Dec. 13.—The regular meeting of the Grange will be held on Monday evening, December 17. At this time the last of the contest programs will be given under the direction of Mrs. Auley Roosa, who will present a one-act play entitled "The Van Dorn's Merry Christmas". The cast of characters is as follows: Miss Lois Willis... Eleanor Forman, Miss Ada Willis... Florence DuMond, Ben Willis... James Forman, Henry Van Dorn... Donald Parrish, Aunt Van Dorn... Sylvia Parrish, Uncle Adam... Leroy Crosby, Mrs. Joy... Margaret Munson, Mr. Grin... Tracey Munson, Bump... Annetta Roosa.

This is the Christmas program usually held in the month of December and each member is requested to bring a 10 cent gift for the tree. The first program in the contest given from Mt. Marion community was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young, and was a parody on a radio program, which was very amusing. The second from Flatbush under the direction of Mrs. Harry Davis was an instructive and educational movie film, shown through the courtesy of S. M. English of the New York Telephone Co. The machine was operated by W. Thompson. The judges, A. B. Bogert, Thomas Knight and John Dimler, will give their decision as to which one is entitled to the prize.

Rifton Church Services.
Preaching service and Sunday school will be held at the Rifton M. E. Church next Sunday. Sunday school will convene at 10 o'clock. The pupils are preparing for a Christmas entertainment.

Bodily Heat Formation.
Heat is a form of molecular energy. According to the modern kinetic theory of heat, the molecules of all bodies are in a state of rapid vibration and any increase of the rapidity of this motion, from whatever cause, increases the heat of the body, while the heat is decreased if this velocity is diminished.

The J. C. Penney Co., operators of 1078 retail department stores, will negotiate 500 leases for new store locations this spring for stores to be opened as rapidly as store units can be developed in a special expansion move just authorized by the board of directors. This expansion will involve an increase in retail sales of between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 over the present rate of around $190,000, 000 a year. The store locations will be confined to cities and towns of from 2,500 to 5,000 population.

Central locations will be selected in all new store towns and the standard type of J. C. Penney Co. store fronts and interior arrangements will be used. Stock will include a full line of ready-to-wear clothing in both women's and men's garments, a full line of shoes, the standard range of piece goods, notions, novelties, hosiery, millinery and other items.

Early in 1928, the J. C. Penney
Co., announced that a new warehouse would be erected in St. Louis, Mo., and this new structure is now nearing completion. It will be utilized to serve the company stores in the South and Southwest. The present warehouse in New York city will serve the Eastern section of the country.

The real estate division of the organization now has representatives in all parts of the country making store town selections and the construction department is making preparations for the most extensive store development program in the history of the company.
The J. C. Penney Co. was founded
24 years ago in Kemmerer, Wyo.
Total number of stores in operation at the present time is 1078. Estimated retail sales volume for this year is $190,000,000.

Causes of Storms.

Electrical storms are generated by sudden or sharp changes in atmospheric temperature. Since the upper atmosphere is always cold, such changes are much less frequent in winter, when the temperature near the earth is also low. Hence, thunder and lightning are much more frequent in summer than in winter.

22 Young Women Held Captive

Mexico City, Dec. 14 (AP).—Twenty-two young women were reported by travellers from Jalisco to be held captive today in the mountain lairs of insurgents who raided the town of Jilotepec in that state. The young women abducted were described as the prettiest in the town. Federal troops were in pursuit of the kidnappers.

Travellers said the insurgents invaded Jilotepec last week and dynamited the Municipal Building. They then went to homes and raided the lairs of the townfolk, most of whom were at a motion picture show.

The looting completed, the insurgents surrounded the motion picture theatre. They lined up the men on one side of the building, with their hands up. While some of the insurgents stood guard over the men, others selected the twenty-two prettiest girls in the audience. Then the band halted off to their hiding places in the mountains, taking the women with them.

Study of Butterfly May Indicate Relation to Man's Tendencies

Austin H. Clark (above) of the National Museum points to various butterflies as possible sources for study of basic human racial tendencies. Above are three illustrative types: the common southern butterfly (left), given to "club" life; a pacifist from India (center) and a pugnacious species (right).

NINE MOVIE PHOTOGRAPHERS KILLED BY FALLING

Moscow, Dec. 14 (AP).—Nine motion picture photographers have been killed by falling over a precipice in the North-Caucasian mountains near Grozny. They were members of a party engaged in filming a section of the mountain area.

Fine for the Lawns.

The pecan is becoming popular for lawn and dooryard planting far beyond the area in which this tree is grown commercially. Beautiful in foliage and graceful in form, it not only ornaments home surroundings, but also produces crops of what is reputed to be the choicest of all the nuts.

Father: "I just paid the doctor another ten dollars on his bill."
Mother: "Oh, goodie; two more payments and the baby's ours."

Dogs.

I like to see a little cur.
For he is cute and trig;
But I admit I should prefer
To own a dog that's big.

A guest in a hotel complained to the manager: "Your restaurant is conducted in a very rotten way. At lunch today I found a hair in the ice cream, a hair in the honey, and a hair in the apple sauce."
"Well, you see," the manager explained, "the hair in the ice cream came from the shaving of the ice. The hair in the honey came from the comb. But I can't for the life of me understand about the hair in the apple sauce, for I bought those apples myself and they were all Baldwins."

Jenny (in department store): "Oh, look at the pretty bathing suit."

Evelyn: "Where? I don't see it."
Jenny: "Oh, right over there behind that price tag."

She was only a safe-blower's daughter, but she pulled a good crack now and then.

Salesman: "I'd like to speak to the master of the house."

Maid: "Sorry, but I've just got him to sleep and put him in the crib."

Cheer up! Another Christmas will soon come when you can get even.

Mother (to child): "And now Santa Claus has begun his long night from the North."

Child: "How many sandwiches did he take?"

This is the time of year to get out the Christmas cards that were received last year and put the senders on the list for one this year.

Hints for Men.

I like candy
And I like poetry books,
I like jewelled pins
And things that help my looks.

I like bracelets;
Flowers are a treat.
I like candy
Or anything to eat.

All these things are dandy.
I'll like to have them, too.
Especially if they are
A gift to me from you.
But—diamond rings are awful nice.

The best business woman is one safely married or hopelessly single.

If someone has done you an injury, this is the season in which to forgive him.

Father and the Christmas tree never suffer for want of trimming.

There are two kinds of Christmas presents—those we don't like and those we don't get.

When a man calls his wife "Dear" during the holidays he means it in two ways.

The play and motion picture presented by the Sunday school of the Marlborough Methodist Church, on Tuesday evening was enjoyed by a large crowd. Local people participated in the play called, "Sowing for the Harvest." A motion picture showing travel pictures preceded the play. Preceding the picture there was a violin solo by Henry Bartack, a vocal solo by Mrs. William Marten, a reading by Miss Charlotte Abrams, a solo by Miss Nellie Groves, a piano solo by Miss Lily Benjamin and a solo by Miss Florence Macker. The play which was an old fashioned one was a meeting of the sewing society. The cast of characters were: Mrs. Judd, the hostess, Mrs. H. Killinder, Mrs. Cheney, president, Mrs. Raymond Schoonmaker, Mrs. R. B. Powers, a stranger, Mrs. Kaufman, Grandma Gibbs, "deaf but persistent," Miss Rose Klunk, Miss Luella Huggins, so sentimental, Mrs. Andrew Kaapp, Mrs. Strong, a suffragist, Mrs. William Rhodes, Miss Meeker, gentle and good, Miss Mamie Lyons, Mrs. Day, a bride, Miss Gladys Clark, Moseley, the hired girl, Mrs. John Baxter. A synopsis of the play was, Moseley wanted to serve wiose wurst sandwiches and noodle soup. The mystery of the jar of pickles. The president arrives before she is expected. "Red Sannels" for the Hottentots in the middle of Africa. A stranger in town, the rich Mrs. Powers, Grandma Gibbs and her ear trumpets. The rich Mrs. Powers is mistaken for the dressmaker; a little tiff. The giddy Miss Huggins is late as usual. A present from the men. "Sowing for the Harvests." The play proved a great success and all taking part deserve much credit for its success.

Moran Dies in Electric Chair

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—Thomas "Red" Moran, 25-year-old Brooklyn gangster who killed two policemen, was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison this morning after gaining two hours of life because the prison inmates were giving their annual musical comedy show.

He was smoking a cigarette as he entered the death chamber, apparently paying little heed to the softly intoned prayers of the prison chaplain.

He was placed in the chair at 1:42 a. m., and pronounced dead six minutes later.

His last hours were spent playing cards with his guard, Moran reaching through the bars to lay his cards on the table outside. The execution was delayed until all visitors who attended the show had left the grounds.

The slain policeman had stopped an automobile in which Moran and two companions were riding in order to question them and were shot down without warning.

Moran was given two trials, being first convicted in January, 1927, after a trial during which he sloped most of the time. He was sentenced to death each time. His defense was based on a plea of insanity.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—There is to be a lot of hot air Christmas. The world's championship gabfest will start December 24 in an armory. The person who says the most in 129 hours 45 minutes will get the title and $1,000. Jokes within limits and songs will be permitted. Entries are limited to Canadians, male or female.

New York—Ganna Walska has opened a perfume shop here. She started one in Paris a year ago. An American company has been incorporated at Albany.

Washington—General Pershing now rates a salute of 19 guns, the same as field marshals abroad. This is two more than he has been receiving.

New York—The leaf tobacco board of trade thinks it knows how to meet the country's need as stated by the late Thomas Riley Marshall. The way to get a good five cent cigar, said Howard S. Cullman, president of the board, at a banquet, is to reduce the tariff on Java and Sumatra leaf.

New York—William Travers Jerome regards the grand jury as an antediluvian institution and as vestigial as the vermiform appendix in New York at least, because of political influence. If anything touching on the political situation has come up before the jury, he said in an address, it has gone immediately to those affected.

Paris—Dog's bathhouses are prospering. New establishments are being opened because of the rush of trade. A standard price of 35 cents for small dogs is in effect in the better places, where hot towels and electric dryers are used.

New York—American drugs are being used in an effort to bring about an event which would be regarded by some experts as equal in importance to the discovery of a new continent. Dr. Warren K. Stratman, 29, leader of an expedition, took 18,000 doses of six new drugs to Africa to test them as possible cures for sleeping sickness. Henry Allen Moore, secretary of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, which is helping to back the expedition, says that a cure would open up a large part of Africa to commerce and industry.

"Baby" in "Skyscraper"

Traveling in a special "skyscraper" crate, a baby giraffe recently went from its former home in South Africa to its new abode in England. The crate had to be specially constructed because of the animal's long neck, and exceptional precautions were taken to guard its health in its change from the tropical to the temperate climate, giraffes being delicate and subject to many ailments in northern climates.

No Longer King of Road.

Not long since in a Southern court the owner of an automobile sued the owner of a horse which, while being driven by its owner, backed into the plaintiff's car. The horse owner asserted he was not liable, because the animal's antics were the "result of an inherent nature." The court, however, held otherwise, thus showing once again that the horse, more or less sadly—as you will—is no longer king of the road.—American Motorist.

Rosicrucians Going to Egypt to Conduct Old Initiation Rite

Two hundred American members of the Ancient Order Rosicrucians will take part in a traditional ceremony at Karnak, Egypt, next February. Fr. Joseph Durham, keeper of the temple at San Jose, Cal., is shown standing before the Wall of Silence. H. Spencer Lewis (inset) is Imperator.

Wild

Dave and a group of other country lads were spending the afternoon trying to yoke up a couple of calves. Try as they would, they could catch only one calf, so Dave volunteered to be yoked up with it. The frightened animal immediately bolted, as soon as the straps were tightened, taking the yoked and helpless Dave along with it. Away they went, careening into trees and banging against fences, bumping and thumping. As soon as the other boys could recover a little from their gales of laughter, they set out to capture the assorted pair, and were advancing toward them, when the human half, in a warning tone, begged "Come up easy, boys! We're wild as heck!"

Animal Weather Prophets

The cat always has been regarded by observant people as a reliable weather prophet. When kitty rushes around with her caudal appendage high in the air, they say "pussy has wind in her tail, it's going to blow." Fishermen declare that the cat and wireless as a weather prophet cannot compare with pigs. A pet pig in the codfishing bark Seawell foretold storms in the Far North with such accuracy, they assert, that it saved the lives of all on board three times. Hours in advance of a storm, the pig would run to and fro on deck squealing and leaping sideways. The fishermen made their preparations accordingly, and on each occasion the storm failed to take them unawares.

Wayside Inn

There are a number of reasons why Americans have a special sentiment for the Wayside inn, a tavern at whose doors many notable visitors have asked hospitality—George Washington, Marquis de Lafayette, Daniel Webster. It was so well known for its good service and good cheer that Longfellow chose it as the meeting place of the friends that recounted the rhymed narratives called "Tales of a Wayside Inn." Longfellow used occasionally to go there to spend the night and to enjoy the companionship of Landlord Howe.

Ohio Murderess Commits Suicide

On Her Way With Her Husband to Surrender to the Sheriff, Mrs. Heldman Saves the Law a Lot of Trouble.

Canton, Ohio, Dec. 14 (AP).—In a setting as melodramatic as that which occurred a week ago when she called Bernard E. Fearn, 35-year-old coal dealer, to the door of his home and shot him to death in the presence of his wife and child, Mrs. Margaret Heldman, 21, of Lorain, Ohio, committed suicide last night by firing a bullet into her heart.

The young woman's husband, W. O. Heldman, a furnace salesman, was en route with her from their home at Lorain to the office of Sheriff Edward Gibson here when she took her life. She had confessed everything to her husband and had agreed to surrender herself.

A queer turn of chance revealed her illicit acquaintanceship with Fearn during the last few months when Heldman picked from a waste basket in their home yesterday a crumpled suicide note she had written several days ago and then discarded. Confronted with its contents she admitted she was the comely young woman slayer for whom a wide search was being made.

"Put on your hat and coat," Heldman yelled at her. They got in their car and started for Canton, where they had lived until they moved to Lorain on October 22. On the long trip Mrs. Heldman told her husband how Fearn had pursued her and made her life a "hell on earth."

She said she had resolved to revenge herself at any cost. On the night of December 2, four days before the slaying, she went to Canton to visit a sister and there awaited her chance. The moment came, she told Heldman, when she found Fearn at home. She called him to the door and emptied the contents of a .38-calibre automatic into his body. Then she hurried to the nearest corner, caught a bus into the city, transferred to an interurban car and went to Akron where she remained overnight. The following day she returned to Lorain.

Mrs. Heldman, the pretty dark-haired ribbon clerk who had been out of high school just a little more than two years, remembered the story over and over again while her husband hurried to Canton to surrender her to Sheriff Gibson.

Then as they neared the northern limits of the city she acted with the same suddenness that characterized the shooting of Fearn. Apparently from the same black bag that she carried to the Fearn home she drew an automatic and fired one shot into her body. It was the same gun that had taken the life of the coal operator.

Heldman raced for the sheriff's office and found Gibson in. The wounded girl was taken immediately to Mercy Hospital but she was found to be dead on arriving there. Heldman returned to the sheriff's office and he made a complete statement of all his wife had told him.

Mrs. Heldman's death probably averted an impending arrest for Sheriff Gibson later revealed that he had learned of her relations with Fearn and had planned to go to Lorain to question her. Mrs. Heldman was graduated from high school at DuBois, Pa., in 1926, and the following year she came to Canton. She was working at a ribbon counter in a department store here when her husband met her.

Their married life was serene until March of this year when they had their first serious quarrel, Heldman said. They separated at that time but were reconciled a few weeks later. In July a son was born to them. When they again separated the child was awarded to the children's bureau here and is still in the custody of that agency.

Nurse Kills 4 Tots and Ends Own Life

Minneapolis, Minn.—A nurse and four little boys were found dead from gas poisoning when the father of the children, Herbert Moreau, a steel worker, returned to his home here. The dead were Miss Violet Hultberg, of Long Lake, Minn., and George, eight years old; Herbert, Jr., seven; Edward, five, and Robert, four. A verdict of murder and suicide was returned by a deputy coroner after he had read a note left by Miss Hultberg, who was nineteen. Miss Hultberg, in the note addressed to Moreau, asked him not to "feel angry for what I am doing."

Moreau recently obtained a divorce from his wife and said Miss Hultberg was in love with him, but that her parents objected to a marriage with him.

Letter Is Returned After 15 Years' Travel

Pasadena, Calif.—After 15 years of travel between here and Colombia, South America, a letter has been returned to the sender.

In December, 1913, Y. Posthuma of Pasadena sent a letter seeking employment to a mining company in South America. The assortment of stamped directions on the envelope indicated the Colombian post office authorities made little effort to deliver it until February, 1928. Then attempts to find the addressee were without success and the letter was started back toward Pasadena.

For the last eight years it has been wandering in that general direction. Posthuma, fortunately, did not wait for a reply to his letter before seeking other employment.

Greek Counterfeiters Fake American Money

Athens, Greece.—A number of counterfeiters arrested recently were discovered to be making American money. Having no special American bank note paper, the counterfeiters bought American paper dollars, removed the printing by a chemical process, and replaced the blank paper, thus obtaining denominations of higher value. Nine new warrants have been issued for the arrest of other members of the band. The Cyprus police telegraph that they discovered counterfeit Cyprus money, while the police of Trieste confiscated counterfeit Egyptian pounds, all believed to be the work of the same gang.

File With Part of Car

Milwaukee, Wis.—Police here have located an unidentified man to the steering wheel of an automobile while they chased two other men wanted in connection with an automobile accident.

When the officers returned both their prisoner and the steering wheel had vanished apparently into the air.

Taxes Stand Alone.
Death and taxes have points in com-

How It Started
By JEAN NEWTON

"SOMETHING ROTTEN IN THE STATE OF DENMARK"

THIS is an expression that is frequently encountered in the most matter of fact speech where it is desired to indicate suspicion which a certain situation arouses against the people involved.

The words are over three hundred years' standing, their author being that master of figure and rhetoric, the bard of Avon. It is in "Hamlet," written in 1600, that we find the original use of the phrase, "There's something rotten in the State of Denmark."

It occurs in the fifth scene of the first act when the ghost appears, background to Hamlet, who against the entreathes of his companions, Horatio and Marcellus, goes off with it, in consequence of the strange proceedings of the night. Marcellus says to Horatio: "To what issue will this come?" "Something is rotten in the State of Denmark."

The SANDMAN STORY

GRANDMA AND MELLY

LITTLE MELLY was walking up the hill and Grandma was watching her from her window.

Grandma often sat by the window of her downstairs bedroom and watched Little Melly.

Grandma's bedroom was the nicest room in the whole house. Back of Grandma's great big old wooden bed was a big space before the wall came, and in that space Little Melly kept many of her toys.

She called it her street, and she lived there a good deal of the time. Number 4 Worthington Lane, she called it. Grandma's last name was Worthington, and so Melly thought she should call her street after Grandma, when Grandma really lived on the street, too.

Melly used to walk along the space back of the bed as though it were a long, long distance to get to the end where her toys were.

She Was Walking Up the Hill and Grandma Was Watching.

That was not the only reason why Grandma's bedroom was the nicest of all.

In the summer time Melly used to sit in the big red rocking chair and Grandma would sit before the mirror doing her beautiful, soft silvery hair.

Oh, what lovely hair Grandma had! Often Melly would comb it and she loved to run her hands over it—it was so very, very soft, and Grandma's skin was so soft, too.

How Melly loved to feel it!

Sometimes on a cool day Melly would sit with Grandma before the little open fire, and in the winter time the room was so cheery with a nice warm stove.

Now and again they made cocon on Grandma's stove. That was nice.

And always in the winter Melly would put Grandma's slippers before the stove so that they would be warm for her when she went to bed.

Grandma was a most remarkable person. Of course Mother and Daddy and the other grownups were nice—they were extremely nice, but there was something about Grandma which there was about no one else.

Melly did not quite know what it was. There was something about her smile. Perhaps that was it. There was certainly something about Grandma's smile that made you know how much she loved you all the time.

Grandma never seemed to think you were naughty, and somehow you never were when you were with Grandma. Grandma never seemed to think your voice was too loud. And somehow, when you felt you were talking most frightfully loud, you would remember it all by yourself and you would lower your voice without any one saying a word to you about it.

Grandma was always so interested in all you had to tell her. She really, really was interested. She didn't just listen to you as though you were a little girl, and of course one was kind to a little girl.

Grandma was really interested. All of these things Little Melly had thought many and many a time.

Now she was walking up the hill and Grandma was watching her. Grandma was watching her as she pulled up her sled. She remembered, and smiled at the thought of the time early in the summer when Little Melly had taken an apple which wasn't quite ripe and had held it behind her back as she walked up the hill—just as though no one could see what was behind her dear little back as she walked up the hill.

Grandma smiled at the thought. She was thinking of the days when she was little, and then her legs were very short and how high and steep that hill had seemed.

And she not only thought of the days when she was little—she remembered just how she felt when she was little.

She could put herself in Little Melly's place now.

She could day-dream back and make-believe she was a little girl once more. And the make-believe was very real as all the make-believes should be!

That was the reason why Grandma was just a little bit different from everone else.

She could feel the feelings of a little girl.

Winter Camping For "Y. M." Boys

The secretaries of the Boy's Division of the Y. M. C. A. are planning a new feature for the Christmas vacation. They are proposing to follow out a scheme that has become exceedingly popular during the last several years among boys and young men.

The plan is to have the boys go to the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp at Glenelg where they will spend two nights and a day camping out. Provisions are being made to have canvas cots erected for all the boys and to have them sleep in the Charles Ramsey Lodge. Each boy will bring his own blankets and other bedding as he feels the need of it. The party will be in charge of Mr. Hall, of the local Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Hall reports that there is great enthusiasm among the boys as they look forward to this new venture.

At the same time that this winter camping is going on, the picked patrol of boys from Troop Number 10, Boy Scouts of America, of Staten Island, New York, will come to Kingston to meet a picked group from the Y. M. C. A. Troop. Contests will be held in fire making, signaling, first aid, knot tying, water boiling, as well as some special features in wood-craft.

Clarence Dumm, who is an experienced Scout-man, has agreed to act as judge and take entire charge of the conducting of the contests.

Any boy, whether a Scout or not, or whether a member of the "Y" or not, who wishes to participate in this winter camping is invited to communicate with Mr. Hall or Mr. Rivers, at the Y. M. C. A. some time before December 20. There will be a slight fee charged to cover food and wood.

Personal Work

Years ago C. H. Spurgeon, advocating personal work, said:

"If you had one hundred empty bottles before you, and threw a gall of water over them, some would get a little in them, but most would fall outside. If you wish to fill the bottles, the best way is to take each bottle separately and put a vessel full of water to the bottle's mouth."

That is successful personal work.

Dark Frock and Lighter

Coat for New Ensemble

The newest phase of the printed and plain ensemble is the trend toward a dark frock and the lighter coat. Heretofore a suit having a dark ground would naturally gravitate toward the coat of a color matching this dark tone. Were it a black ground or brown, then the coat would necessarily have been black or brown.

Forecasta point to a dark print dress, as of brown with a design in beige and rose, worn with a coat of beige. Or when the black dress is printed in slate blue, shoes and accessories in this color.

In this manner of adapting prints to plain colors, greater significance is given to the pattern of the print. The obvious and the logical color scheme is no longer the one justified by smartness.

Hems Are Out of Favor; Machine Stitching Used

There are no hems to let out on the newest sports clothes. Hems are out of favor and in their stead Paris uses row on row of machine stitching to finish wool sports clothes. The same method is used for cuffs and collars at some of the leading houses of sports apparel.

Tweeds are the cause of the change.

They do not hang well, dressmakers say, when finished with hems which have to be put in on the bias, since most of the current season's sports skirts are more or less circular.

Gray, Brown, Red Sweater Much in Fashion Picture

These are the days when the sweater comes into its own, whether one calls it by that name or designates it a "woolie," as they do in England. Gray, brown and the darker shades of red are predominant with an occasional bird's-eye pattern which combines these colors with white. If they are of the coat type they are buttoned very low down with three buttons placed close together. If of the slip-on type, they have the conventional V-neck opening.

Fall Outfits for Girls Are Simple

Younger Set Asks Plain Trimmings on Costumes for School.

One of the problems of autumn is the selection of a wardrobe for the school. Clothes must be provided for them for school, for holidays and for home occasions. The principal choice, notes a fashion writer in the New York Times, means to be between one piece and two-piece costumes, both of which are proper for girls between the ages of six and sixteen, depending upon their size and type. Generally speaking, the two-piece is selected for school, the one-piece for home and the most formal wear; but there is a variety of exceptions.

Although the skirt for the autumn is less abbreviated than that in the summer style, it is still very short, and whatever ornamentation it has is grouped on the upper part, the skirt being for the most part left plain. Many attractive frocks of this description are shown in the autumn collections. One, copied from a summer style, is of figured dimity, with collar, cuffs and patch pockets of plain linen. The original had pink blossoms printed on a white background and the trimming was of plain pink linen.

Another of the same sort is of dimity with miniature dots of pale blue on white. It has a narrow turnover collar and bands on the sleeves, which are short and of white linen. A small panel in the shape of a shirt bosom is attached in the front, and on each shoulder is clustered a triangle of smocking. Both of these models are being successfully reproduced in chailis and heavy crepe for service and becomingness, one in French blue, the other in bright red.

Bands Give Effect of Trim.

Applied bands are shown on a great many of the frocks, serving to give an effect of trimming without altering the simplicity of the model. An excellent example is one made of navy blue crepe de chine printed with blue polka dots. The frock is perfectly straight in silhouette and has an inverted plait laid on each shoulder, front and back. Each is fastened at the top by a strap of navy blue cloth with flaring, pointed ends stitched to hold the plaits in place. Narrow cuffs and a turnover collar, which is finished with a frill of red crepe, are also made of the navy cloth.

Again, bands of cloth in a contrasting color are used to finish a little school dress of washable rosy beige printed with small geometric figures of brown. In this model a fold of brown cloth outlines the yoke and is applied as a panel down the front to the hem. There it is rounded in a scallop, from which scallops finish the bottom all around. A cluster of gathers held in the square of the yoke at each side gives fullness to the frock.

This model is varied to give a more chic appearance, with the collar and cuff appliques cut in battlements and the yoke shaped unevenly, with gathers clustered at one side only. Another difference is seen in the back are plaited on "the straight of the goods" in kilts or box plaits. In one collection brought from Paris are a number of models of wool fabrics, designed for a girl of eight or ten or older. All of these are quiet in color and simple in style, the sort of clothes that answer the requirement for all-day and every-day wear.

Among the two-piece models is one of leaf-brown wool crepe. Though it has a belted overblouse this little suit is gently feminine in style and has a bateau neck ending in two narrow scarfs that are tied in a bow at the back. A detail of fagoting is introduced in the bodice with lines that radiate downward from the neck, front and back. Another model in brown is more elaborate. A short bolero is added to the blouse and the skirt is trimmed with five narrow tiers that are clustered into frills at one side. This dress is made of flat crepe, with ivory crepe de chine for the blouse, which has the effect of a guimp or vest in front and shows softly a contrast in color all around.

A two-piece of red and brown wool plaid is particularly chic, with box-plaited skirt and a Norfolk jacket belted with a strap of brown suede. With this and other models of the sort a small eon collar of white pique is stitched along the edge with scarlet yarn.

Beige and Red Wool Mixtures. A modernistic note is reflected in a one-piece coat frock of beige and red wool mixture. The lighter weave of the two colors is used for the upper part of the frock, and for the lower part the darker weave, showing more than beige, it is attached in geometric outline. A narrow belt of lacquered red leather and collar and cuffs of ecru linen are worn with this model.

A similar collar and cuff set is shown with a one-piece belted frock of wool crepe. Several new two-piece and simulated two-piece frocks are shown in wool jersey. In one of which braid is added as a trimming at the top, and in the other in battlement border around the bottom. Tweed of a rich shade of tan has a woven border of red, green and blue, which is arranged to form a trimming for the bottom of the skirt and a yoke on the blouse. A trim and dainty appearance is given to the wool and jersey frocks with collars, and cuffs of linen or pique, usually detachable. Some are handsomely embroidered and all are finished with a scallop or crocheted edge done by hand with white cotton or colored yarn.

Delightful pajama suits are made of crepe de chine in plain colors and figured woods. A suit of white crepe printed in the small pink flowers has short sleeves and a finely plaited frill of plain pink crepe as a trim on the edge of the coat, sleeves, trouser cuffs and ends of the soft mask.

Hard to Satisfy. Those who are very difficult in choosing wives seem as if they would take some of nature's ready-made wits, but want a woman unmanufactured particularly to their order.—Bartholomae.

Differences in Eggs. Because Russian hens are allowed to run wild foraging for themselves their eggs can be preserved for 12 months, while those of the carefully tended fowls of western Europe spoil much quicker, declares an egg specialist.

Dimity and handkerchief linen, of which some of the best-known school frocks for youngsters are made, are shown with smocking, fagoting, crocheting and other styles of needlework, in all white and in colors. Georgette and all the varieties of voile are widely used for children's school frocks and general utility dresses. The new tub top and sleeve are also in favor, since they withstand ordinary wear and tear and are absolutely proof against water and sun. Moreover, in the present-day economy plain designs they are economical of time and labor in laundering.

Far all of the softer materials smocking is charmingly adapted and is much used. Genuine peasant patterns of needlework, in color on white, or one color on another, are seen in simplified designs on frocks for small girls and are always decorative, even quaint. A few models from Paris of dark-colored voiles, mostly blue, show a touch of needlework or colored roses, and edges embroidered with hand scallops.

Straight-line silhouettes prevail in most of the models for school dresses, especially in the one-piece. A few circular and flaring skirts with godets are shown, but the greater number

Nurse Loans $200,000 as Wedding Is Halted

Boston.—A fortune of $200,000 has slipped from the fingers of Mrs. Eva Robinson Walker, county 80-year-old nurse of Brockton, who for the last twelve months has been in attendance on her wealthy admirer, John W. Luffin, seventy-nine years old, who has just been declared insane by the Suffolk County Probate court.

The sum was named in a preceptual agreement which was to have been paid by Luffin to his nurse following their marriage. The marriage was prevented only by last minute court action on proceedings begun by Miss Elizabeth A. Luffin of Squamam, Luffin's sister.

Luffin's insanity was established by two alienists appointed by Judge Dalton. Judge Murray had granted a writ of habeas corpus to Mrs. Walker so she could marry the invalid inventor, whose fortune is more than $800,000. It was Judge Murray, however, who rescinded the writ only after a dramatic last minute appeal.

Wad to Get Clean Shirts. In the course of a trial in Brighton, England, a police court judge asked a man if he never loved his wife why he married her. The accused husband's answer was, "To get a clean shirt."

The accused magistrate sentenced him to do the household washing for one year, and told the aggrieved wife to report to him if the man didn't do a good job. The magistrate's parting remark was: "Now you will have clean shirts."

Ganna Walska Has Influenza

Chicago, Dec. 14 (AP).—Mrs. Ganna Walska (Mrs. Harold McCormick) has been stricken with influenza, and, though it is only a mild attack, she has found it necessary to cancel her concert at Orchestra Hall tomorrow afternoon.

A statement by two attending physicians said only that Mrs. Walska was confined to bed by influenza and that it would be impossible for her to all the engagement.

The influenza attack was sudden. Mrs. Walska having been the center of attention at the opera Wednesday night when she occupied the McCormick box during the performance of "Don Giovanni."

Since returning to Chicago after an absence of years, Mrs. Walska has settled herself in the Harold McCormick town house and has indicated that she intends to make it a permanent home here except for annual trips to Europe during the spring and summer months.

Postponement of tomorrow's concert recalls that previously Mrs. Walska's announced appearance invariably have been attended by unlooked for developments which have necessitated their cancellation.

Active Centenarian

Although just one hundred years old, Daniel Robinson of Maghery, Ireland, is still busy fishing. He seldom misses a day with hook and line, and when fishing with his grandson recently caught twenty pike. Robinson lives with his son who is seventy-five, and both draw old-age pensions. In the house next to him are his granddaughters and baby great-grandson. The aged man declares that he has never been sick a day in his life. He does not smoke, drinks very little and prefers buttermilk to porter.

DIP, 74, FACING LIFE TERM FOR A 7-CENT THEFT

Convicted 22 Times and Has Served Four Prison Sentences.

New York—A slight figure, a little stooped by age, came out of the subway at city hall one afternoon recently. He was dressed in a neat brown suit and wore a blue bow tie and a new fedora hat. His iron gray mustache was smartly clipped, his complexion ruddy, his hands long and narrow and very white. He was always very careful of his hands; by them he had made a precarious living for many, many years.

He strolled through the group gathered in front of the hall, apparently intent only on looking around. Several times he stopped for a moment, then went on again, aimlessly. Once he put his hand into the inside pocket of his coat and smiled a little sadly as it came out empty. He resumed his walk, finally pausing just behind several men standing in a circle talking.

See Familiar Face.
A moment later he felt himself tapped on the shoulder, and from the corner of his eye saw a familiar face. He said nothing, but slowly opened his right hand, displaying three coins. His captor looked down and picked the old bunch. He shook his head sorrowfully.

No Relatives, No Friends.
"Yes, I guess I am. The others have all gone."

"Deadly's" real name is John; his age is seventy-four. He has no particular home, but for the last few months has been living as John Murphy at 100 Bowery. He has no relatives; no friends. On his 27 arrests he has been convicted 22 times, serving four terms in Sing Sing for attempted grand larceny. His police record began in December, 1885, when he was sentenced to a year in the reformatory for petit larceny.

The police say that when he took 7 cents from the pocket of John Kelly of 122 West One Hundredth street he laid himself open to a life term.

Man Claims Dog Gets Steak, He Gets Gravy

Atlantic City, N. J.—His wife was more fond of her collie than of her husband, Albert Gildersleeve, sixty, told County Judge William R. Smathers here recently. Mrs. Gildersleeve had complained that her husband left her ten days before and asked the court to compel him to support her. They have been married 20 years.

"Every time I come home," Gildersleeve told the judge, "the dog is in her lap or arms. She has the dog in her arms when she is cooking, and when she fries a nice steak the dog gets the steak and I get the gravy."

Judge Smathers gave them a week to patch up their differences.

Will of Man Dead 45 Years Filed for Probate

Fort Collins, Colo.—A will made by a man who died 45 years ago has just been presented for probate in County court here. Charles F. Hanby, who died in Loveland, Colo., in 1883, made the will three years before his death, and it was filed jointly with that of his son, Charles M. Hanby, who died October 1.

Pumice Stone Used as Substitute for Razor

If your razor is used by the wife to sharpen a pencil or by a young hopeful for a screw-driver, use pumice stone to shave yourself with.

Samuel Pepys used pumice stone. Writing on Sunday, May 25, 1662, the diarist says: "To trimming myself, which I this week have done every morning, with a pumice stone, which I learnt of Mr. Marsh, when I was last at Portsmouth; and I shall continue the practice of it." Six days later he tells us: "I cut off all my beard, which I have been a great while bringing up only that I may with my pumice stone do my whole face, as I now do my chin, and to save time, which I find a very easy way and gentle." The Arabs of Palestine often use pumice stone to "clean up" after shaving with pieces of broken glass bottles.

DO YOU KNOW—

THAT green salads and vegetables are better than cosmetics for your complexion?

That a salad a day as well as an apple keeps the doctor away and is a good food habit to form for youth or age?

That cabbage has more value eaten raw than cooked and is more easily digested?

That lettuce wilts in warm dry air? It should be washed and kept near ice to keep fresh and crisp.

That adding oil and vinegar to lettuce wilts it, draws out its moisture and destroys its food value as well as its attractiveness? So it should be added just before serving. This is true of other vegetables as well as fruits, and is the reason that a thick mayonnaise will become watery after standing an hour or more on any fruit or succulent vegetable.

That you may make a very acceptable chili sauce of catsup at any season with a can of tomatoes, spices and condiments?

That a juicy pie may be saved from boiling over if the edge of the crust is wrapped round with a two-inch strip of wet muslin before going into the oven? Remove the cloth at once when the pie is taken from the oven.

That a small 10-cent brush makes a fine utensil to clean the grater when it is soiled from use? All utensils should be put at once into the sink and covered with water, to save labor in washing.

That any egg dishes should be soaked in cold water, otherwise the egg cooks on and the washing process is harder?

That starching the wash rugs saves labor, as they keep clean longer, wash easier and lay flat without wrinkling?

That having Tuesday for wash day makes the work easier for some households?

That Monday may be used in getting the clothes looked over for spots, put to soak and any extra work done to lighten wash day?

That prunes, stewed, stewed and stuffed with cream or cottage cheese make a fine dessert? Or served on lettuce with a bit of dressing, they serve as salad?

That curried mayonnaise dressing may be made smooth by adding the curried mixture a bit at a time to a beaten egg yolk?

There is a general belief that certain keys in music do express particular emotions best, and many composers consciously or unconsciously employ them. The minor keys as a class are sad, somber and melancholy, each having particular attributes. In the major keys, C is simple, naive and commonplace; G is rural, merry; E flat, noble, elegant, graceful; E flat, somber, vigorous, chivalrous; and so on.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

ARE YOU OUT OF TUNE?

THOSE persons who are constantly out of tune with the grand, inspiring songs of life, never can hope to attain anything but a mediocre place in the world.

You who are living in discord cannot understand those who dwell in harmony. You cannot comprehend that all nature is perfectly attuned to certain laws, which, if broken, produce distressing results.

No system can be devised by man to circumvent these laws, made by an all-wise Creator for the best interest of His children.

To make the best use of opportunity is to be in tune with the universe.

To rail against fate is to strike the first discordant note and direct attention to your useless self.

Whatever keeps you happy in worthy effort makes for a tuneful existence, cheerfulness and a smiling countenance.

Good cheer and amiability compose the stuff out of which this old world of ours manufactures its best brands of men and women.

Take the measure of persons with whom you may be acquainted and make your own deductions.

You will find the truth of this sticking out at every corner, staring at your incredulous gaze.

Those who grumble, spend their time in indolence, shirk duties obligations, speak insolently to their elders, are late in the morning and given to fault-finding are far from being in harmony with the things about them.

Their feet are not on solid ground, and their voices are a whole octave below normal pitch.

Even if they were told about the discord they are making for themselves and others, they would not be able to understand a single syllable.

They have no ear for the glorious music that is ever ascending from the places of creative industry; do eye for the beauties of higher achievements; no mind to grasp their stupendous meaning.

To keep in tune, pack your heart with love, pack it full of sacrifice; pack it with charity, labor, lofty resolution and simple, child-like faith.

With these splendid things as your guiding stars, there will be no failure or no regrets in the hard days of winter—naught but a soul filled to overflowing with gladness music.

What Does Your Child Want to Know?

Answered by BARBARA BOURNIAKY

There is a general belief that certain keys in music do express particular emotions best, and many composers consciously or unconsciously employ them. The minor keys as a class are sad, somber and melancholy, each having particular attributes. In the major keys, C is simple, naive and commonplace; G is rural, merry; E flat, noble, elegant, graceful; E flat, somber, vigorous, chivalrous; and so on.

Why We Do What We Do

by M. E. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE HOARD

PRIDE of ownership is a very real incentive in life. What is free to all is enjoyed by none. We crave to secure some special privilege, some recognition. It adds to a man's self respect if he can own things.

Wealth, beyond one's needs, serves the purpose of satisfying the hoarding instinct. The extreme illustration is that of the miser who hoards his money and gets pleasure and satisfaction not from spending it but in playing with it, assuring himself that it really belongs to him. He derives pleasure from seeing it grow. Money is not the only thing that is hoarded. We hoard a great many things, furniture, books, stamps, coins, old rags. Almost everything is hoarded by somebody.

Some of the animals are also hoarders and misers. The squirrels gather nuts and bury them in the ground. They hide them away from other squirrels against the day of need. The common dog also has the habit of hoarding bones. After he has eaten all he can, he buries the rest. The bee is a busy hoarder.

The bees store more honey than they can use in a season. The human animal will store away more wealth than he can possibly use. Here is a case of a precaution in nature for the preservation of the species that has gone beyond the point of necessity. It may be that only those who were expert hoarders survived. The present generations are descendants of those who had this instinct to an abnormal degree.

We hoard because we are born with a hoarding instinct that is widespread in the animal kingdom. The instinct itself doubtless developed as a means of protecting life and in aiding the individual in his struggle for survival and supremacy.

Skim Milk Solids One

of Most Valuable Foods

Americans are depriving themselves of innumerable possibilities for health from the common practice of skimming milk for cream and then throwing away the nonfat milk solids in the form of skim milk or by feeding it to farm animals, according to Dr. H. E. Van Norman of Chicago, internationally known dairy expert. "Skim milk solids are one of nature's most valuable foods, both for human and for animal use," says Doctor Van Norman. "Milk, in simple terms is butterfat, skim solids and water. About all of the water, which contains something like 88 per cent of the total milk, has been removed, thus leaving the butterfat, which is less than a third of the solids content, and the skim milk solids, which are more than two-thirds of the solids content of the milk. The butterfat, in the form of butter, cream, ice cream and other products, has the familiar commercial value, yet from the nutritional viewpoint, it is the skim milk solids which supply the elements of nutrition so often lacking in our modern diet."

Analyses reveal that the composition of dry skim milk is 8 per cent calcium and other minerals needed in bone and tooth building, 37 per cent milk protein, a valuable source of muscle and tissue building material, and 51 per cent lactose or milk sugar, an energy supplying food particularly valuable for maintaining the intestinal tract in a healthy, normal condition.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—Violent fluctuations in the high-grade specialties featured today's irregular stock market. The main price tendency was upward, with buying influenced by the further easing of money rates, the decline of nearly $115,000,000 in brokers' loans and the reduction of the 5 per cent discount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

Except at the opening, when several blocks of 5,000 to 10,000 shares changed hands, trading was relatively light. Call money renewed at 7 per cent and dropped to 6 with loans quoted in the "outside market" as low as 5 1/4 per cent in the early afternoon. Easy call money is expected to continue until early next week, when the December 15 disbursements are again likely to cause a further stiffening which may continue until the end of the year. Bankers' acceptance rates were advanced 1/4 of one per cent today, presumably in anticipation of higher rates on other borrowings around the end of the year.

The Poppy

According to mythology, the poppy was created by Ceres in order that she might forget grief in the sleep it produced. The Romans regarded the flower as a symbol of death and dedicated it to Somnus, god of sleep. Superstition looks upon the poppies that bloom on battlefields as the blood of the slain soldiers. A strange fact about the flower is that it does not agree with other blooms, and if placed in a bouquet with them will either wilt or cause them to wilt, or both.

Carry on Old Business.

In Wales and Durham, England, "Quilt Wives" still practice the traditional craft of quilting, the art of which has been handed down from mother to daughter. The wool for quilting is bought locally and is first washed and carded; it is then placed in the frame between the two outer coverings of the quilt, and the whole is ready to be stitched.

Flares, Tiers and Panels Are Liked

Mode Departs From Straight Lines; Boyish Figure Is Not Recognized.

There is much that is new in the mode. There is much that is smart. There is much that is sophisticated, and there is much that is new.

Today there is an elegance and sophistication that is raised through the effort to emphasize femininity. There are panels to consider. There are flounces and frills, there are tiers and fullnesses. There are draperies and puffs, and, principally, there are panels. The entire silhouette has changed, and in general the line has been definitely broadened.

A genuinely feminine contour is suggested in all that is smart in the mode. The new silhouette pays full attention to feminine lines and in no way recognizes the boyish figure. The grandeur of the feminine mode which existed before the days of the boyish look and straight lines will by no means return, but there will be seen a distinctly feminine aspect as well as a return to curves.

Curves, of course, will not mean that the very large figure will prevail—it means, however, the death knell of the straight, flat figure and a return to the feminine figure which pays much attention to curves—but none to pounds.

Velvet, being a season's outstanding fabric, is found particularly successful in the models which require graceful draping and handling. There is a subtle appeal to the sheer velvets which make them decidedly lovely for return of the feminine silhouette.

The combination of velvet with other fabrics, too, is a feature of the mode. Velvet jackets, with satin or crepe or woolen skirts or velvet skirts and silk blouses, velvet trimmed, all form a fascinating part of the new styles.

Thelma Todd, featured motion picture actress, who appears to advantage in the feminine role in "The Crash," has opportunity to wear a smart example of the velvet and georgette combination. It is a sweet little afternoon frock of navy blue velvet and georgette. The long blouse is finely tucked, and two tiers create a subtly feminine skirt, with the successful flare smartly emphasized. Rhinestone trimming in the form of buttons also give an interesting effect.

Paris Yoke Is Again in Fashion Limelight

The feminine, free, flowing line will be again chic this winter but the real charm of this line as developed in the latest fashion is considerably increased by the contrast of bound hip line and, in many cases, neatly yoked shoulder lines. The new winter styles how to the yoke. Yokes, particularly hip yokes, have gradually become wider until now, on a great number of frocks, they take almost half of the skirt.

A charming dinner gown from Redfern is designed with a deep hip yoke and is made of a very transparent "etamine" with a rayon thread in black and white printed with modern flowers in bright red and green.

New Jewelry Ensemble That Bids for Favor

The inevitable necklace and bracelet may have sung its swan song as far as your taste is concerned, and you seek another way to supply the chic touch of costume jewelry. Have you thought of clasp and belt to match? For an ensemble of coat and jumper dress of sports genre a unique note seen at Biarritz was a duo of belt and necklace made of rectangular gold links with a large round emerald for a clasp, the embroidery of the white blouse defined yoke and border in a step design of gold thread.

Industrial League Games

In the Industrial League basketball games played at the Y. M. C. A. court Thursday night, the Central Hudson team beat Schillings, 27 to 23. Hercules took their game with the Silk Mills, 26-13, and the last game of the night was an overwhelming victory for the Artistics over the Brighams, 23 to 12.

The Schillings representatives held the lead at half time in their game with the Central Hudson team, 21 to 19. In the second session the Schilling teamwork wasn't as effective as it was in the opening period. Smith scored from all angles of the court in the second half and when the game ended he was high scorer with 12 points to his credit. The final tally was Central Hudson, 27; Schillings, 23.

The second game of the night was taken in the second half also when the half ended the Silk Mills was leading Hercules, 12 to 11. The second period for a while was nip and tuck but after Blass was sent from the game on personal fouls, the Silk Mills team soon lost out in the race. When the final whistle blew Hercules was ahead, 26 to 13.

The Artistics swamped Brighams, 23 to 12. At half time the Artistics lead was twice their opponents, score 24 to 12. It was in the last quarter that the Brighams team began to find the hoop more frequently and when the battle ended the Artistics were far in the lead, 23-12.

In the preliminary game the Woodstock Girls team had their shooting eyes trained and registered 10 field shots to four for the Port Ewen ladies.

Old-Time Ball Tale Is Now Amusing to Players

This is a secret kept for 14 years. Hank Gowdy and Billy Southworth are from Columbus, Ohio. Hank was a star behind the bat with the Braves when Billy was trying to get a foothold with the Cleveland Indians. The two clubs met in Macon, Ga., in 1914 and the game was close.

Southworth came to bat and Rudolph was pitching. Hank was Rudolph's best friend, but still he wanted that kid Southworth to make good. So he whispered to Southworth what Rudolph was going to throw and Southworth hit a double. That helped to win the game.

The next time up Gowdy was about to bring in enough runs to win for Boston with a long line drive out of the park when what did Southworth do but make a long run, put one foot on the fence and reach up for a one-handed catch.

When Gowdy joined the Rochester Red Wings he and Southworth, who is managing the club, had a laugh over the day in Macon. They're great pals, and Hank is glad to be with his friend from Columbus.

Curious.

Close-Up of Gilmour Dobie

SOME of the most colorful stories about Gilmour Dobie, head football coach at Cornell university, have been poured out on typewriters far away from Ithaca's waters, by sports writers who never talked to Cornell's coach and in some instances by writers who never even saw him. An examination of a pile of clippings regarding Mr. Dobie shows him to be a tall man, a short man; a gregarious man, a silent man; an all-time coach, knowing no new football, a master of the new forward passing game. He is called a "deer Scott," "deafest Gilt" and "peddler," by one scribe. Another paints him as unfriendly and unapproachable.

Several writers, however, know Dobie and they present a picture which is substantiated by one who has talked to him numberless times, who has seen every football game played by Cornell this year and who has watched the practice several times a week in the fading daylight and under the huge floodlights which bathe Schweikliff field during the larger part of the year—bouts which Cornell's football warriors spare from their class rooms and laboratories.

Gilmour Dobie has been football coach at Cornell since 1904. Since that time he has had three teams which went through their seasons undefeated. His teams up to the present season have won forty-nine games, lost twelve, and tied three. Against Pennsylvania the count is three won, four lost, and one tied. Against Dartmouth the tally reads four won and four lost. Dobie has brought a good share of victory to Cornell. His record before coming to Cornell shows an eleven year unbroken string of victories as coach of Minnesota, Washington and the Navy.

Holding an LL. B. from Minnesota, Dobie is a well-educated, well-informed man, a good conversationalist, and while no eloquentist, makes a splendid talk. As a companion on a hunting trip, or as one of a foreman on the golf links, there is no finer company. A tall, spare man who during practice keeps up a stream of comment. Not given to praise, there was never a practice in which Dobie did not leave his criticisms with a word of encouragement spread here and there for an exceptional piece of work. Swell-head has ruined more football players than broken collar bones and Dobie knows the psychology of the star better than most men.

Hornsbey Given Lecture on Horse Race Betting

On top of the Hornsbey deal, a story came from Chicago to the effect that the star second baseman was called to the Windy City by Commissioner Landis on October 27 and given a lecture on his alleged horse race betting activities. It is understood Landis called a spade a spade with the Rajah and that the latter gave a solemn promise at the conclusion of the conference to let the ponies run for Sweeney. The name of the great batsman has been linked with betting on several occasions, but he always contended this matter had nothing to do with baseball and was his own private affair.

Commissioner Landis does not believe it well for a player's name to be associated with gambling in any form, be it the horses, dice or cards.

Nicknames of Football Players Is Explained

Any mystery as to how West Virginia's two football players, "Big Sleeps" and "Little Sleepy" Glenn, came by their nicknames can now be ended. Both were in New York with the team for the Fordham game.

It seems that "Big Sleepy" was the first of the brothers to come to college and it was no bed of roses for him. To earn his way through he worked nights as a railroad trowman, going to classes and playing football days.

When his kid brother came up to Morgantown, he of course, became Little Sleepy although now he is bigger than Big Sleepy.

HOW

VAUDEVILLE "STRONG MAN" GETS AWAY WITH TRICK.
Strong men on the made hall stage are fond of lying on their backs and having placed on the chest an anvil, which is subjected to blows from a heavy sledge hammer. As a "turn" it invariably creates astonishment, but any man could do it, provided he were strong enough in the first place to support the heavy anvil. The blows inflicted by the sledge hammer are negative.

Scientists explain this by what is known as action and reaction, which are always equal. The anvil strikes the hammer as forcibly as the hammer strikes the anvil, and should the anvil be heavier than the hammer, it will not be moved. Suppose the hammer weighs 10 pounds and moves with a velocity of 16 feet per second. It will strike the anvil with a force of 160 pounds; but the anvil, perhaps, weighs 220 pounds, and in consequence will not be moved. Thus the "strong" man is able to receive the weight of the blows without discomfort.

How Phrase "To Walk Spanish" Is Explained

"To walk Spanish" refers to an old sport among boys in which one boy seizes another by the collar or the scruff of the neck and the seat of the trousers and forces him along on tip-toe. "To walk turkey" is used in the same sense. Apparently the former expression originated in New England. At any rate, the earliest known uses of "to walk Spanish" occur in writings from that section. The application of "Spanish" in the phrase is obscure. It may, as some suppose, allude to the manner in which the old Spanish pirates are reputed to have handled their prisoners when starting them out on the plank. "To walk Spanish" has acquired a large variety of meanings in popular parlance. We make another walk Spanish when we discharge him from his job, when we make him step along gingerly, or when we compel him to do anything against his will. Likewise a person is said to walk Spanish when he struts, and also when he walks with an unsteady gait. More often the term is equivalent to "toe the line" or "come up to the mark."—Exchange.

How Snowflakes Form.
Snow forms over an ascending air current in which there are solidified cloud particles for nuclei. But whatever the nuclei may be, as soon as the initial crystals are formed further condensation takes place, the vapor condensing directly into the solid state without first going through the liquid state. The crystals of water are hexagonal prisms, explains the Scientific American, and water in the crystalline state in the atmosphere shows all the wonderful shapes that this form of crystallization can take. Having once started, the crystals may grow either along their central axis, giving rise to long thin prisms, or along their six axes to form hexagonal plates. Sometimes a growth is uniform, so that the result is a perfect hexagonal plate; at others the growth along the axes is more rapid than in the space between. This gives rise to star-shaped crystals.

How Emeralds Are Mined.
A great many of the emeralds on the market today are obtained from the republic of Colombia. The Museo emeralds of that country occur in calcite veins. The bank may prove worthless after months of work, for no one can estimate the probable value of any particular section of a deposit. In this way emerald mining is different from most other branches of the industry. The tools used are steel bars about five feet long, weighing 30 pounds, and shovels. The bars are forged to a point at one end and made wedge-shaped on the other. Great care must be exercised in mining emeralds owing to the risk of breaking them. Skilled natives are generally employed to do this work.

How to Clean Grass Rug.
Wash the rug with water in which bran has been boiled, or in weak salt and water. Dry it well with a cloth. To remove grease from the rug wet a nailbrush in slightly salted water, rub on soap and scrub the place hard. Have the water boiling. Continue to scrub with soap until the spot disappears. Wash with clean cloth and rub dry. Always rub lengthwise of the grain.

How to Remove Rust.
To remove rust spots from nickel-plated surfaces, apply petrolatum (vaseline) and after several days wipe with a cloth dipped in ammonia. In case the spots are particularly stubborn, add a few drops of hydrochloric acid to the ammonia, but be sure to dry the metal quickly; then rinse it with water and polish thoroughly.—Popular Science Monthly.

How Money Makes Money.
New York's oldest savings account was opened with $10 in 1819; $5 were added the following year, and no further deposit has ever been made. The original bank book, held by the descendant of the depositor, recently showed approximately $2,500 in accumulated interest.

Who Has Missing Half of Cullinan Diamond?

When the Cullinan diamond, the largest in the world, estimated to be worth up to $25,000,000, and which is among the British crown jewels, was dug from the earth at the Premier mines at Cullinan, South Africa, in 1905, it was found that one side was so flat and smooth that it was considered to be only part of a much bigger diamond. The enormous half brother, however, has never been found, although scientists, diamond miners, financiers, geologists and thieves have been searching for it for twenty-three years. Its whereabouts and even its existence are one of the world's mysteries.

Mud Walls of House Defy Time's Ravages

Near Stella, Amherst Island, at the eastern extremity of Lake Ontario, is a mud house erected 100 years ago and probably the only one of its kind on the North American continent. It should be of archeological and historical interest because it differs from the adobe brick houses of the Southwest in that the mud walls were molded in one piece. They were evidently built in a form, and the clay, mixed with saplings imbedded about six inches apart. A correspondent of the Toronto Globe says the house was built for a British army officer who sent to Ireland for a mechanic skilled in such construction. In the latter country there are many similar houses, other building material being scarce. The walls of the Amherst Island house were made eleven feet high and four feet thick and were originally plastered, but now are protected by clapboards. Other than that no changes or repairs have been made in the century of its existence.

Leader and Led
Every man is both leader and led. His range may not be of the lowest and narrowest, but if he be not actually defective some other looks to him to lead in some petty concern or employment. His range may be of the highest and widest, but even so he must have advice in many fields, and because of his superior intelligence, he relies the more upon competent direction in fields and subjects which he has not himself mastered. The head of a state has his trusted and official counselors; but beyond that circle he is under the social guidance of his wife, takes orders from his physician, follows his guide in the northern woods, and may be as clay in the hands of his tailor.—Chancellor Brown of New York University.

Modern Things Not New
Many things believed to be modern are not so new, declares a European preber who has just made a report. He declares that the pneumatic tire was invented as early as 1845, but apparently was unwarranted as being ahead of its time; the fountain pen was patented in 1803, but found little acceptance, and roller skates were known in 1823, but bad roads prevented their use. The roll-top desk was described in 1772; safety razors in 1782; a loud speaker in 1871; a diving bell in 1684, a periscope in 1702, while the Chinese claim that a bamboo arrangement served as a phonograph many years ago.

Ceremonial Painting.
The ancient Britons stained and dyed their bodies and faces with the juice of the wood plant, which was blue in color. The British women also used the dye on their bodies in certain religious ceremonials.
